New 'Pump-Priming' Bill Hinted

Billion And Half May Be Sought For Relief Work

WASHINGTON. (AP) — A high administration official said today that President Roosevelt contemplates recommending to congress a $1,500,000,000 public works program in a new recovery drive to end the recession, restore employment and revitalize the nation's business.

At the same time the White House announced that Harry Hopkins, administrator, and Aubrey Williams, deputy administrator of the Works Progress administration, would confer with the President today on work relief.

Williams has said that a much greater emergency relief fund would be needed soon if the government was to care for the new thousands of unemployed, born of the recession.

The new public works program plan, it was learned authoritatively, calls for federal bond issues to raise the $1,500,000,000. This money, in turn, would be lent to cities, counties and other political subdivisions to finance local building programs.

It was understood President Roosevelt would ask congress to authorize raising the billion and a half by sale of bonds, and that the money would be lent to states and cities without interest for periods as long as 50 years and repayable in small annual amounts probably about 2 per cent.

The public works loan plan would be one phase of the administration's program for aiding business and increasing employment.

Chairman Jesse H. Jones of the Reconstruction Finance corporation advised business men today he would consider their loan applications individually.

The legislation will go to the White House for President Roosevelt's signature as soon as minor differences between the house and senate versions are reconciled.

Formerly the RFC could make business loans only until 1945. The new measure removes that limitation, and loans for as long as 15 or 20 years may result. Jones said many utilities probably will become interested in this long-term money.

In which case it wasn't necessary to celebrate.

MINE UNIONISTS ARE SET FREE

NEVADA CITY. (AP) — Fourteen CIO mine unionists were released from the Nevada county jail early today, Sheriff Carl Tobiassen said, after they had agreed to banishment from the county.

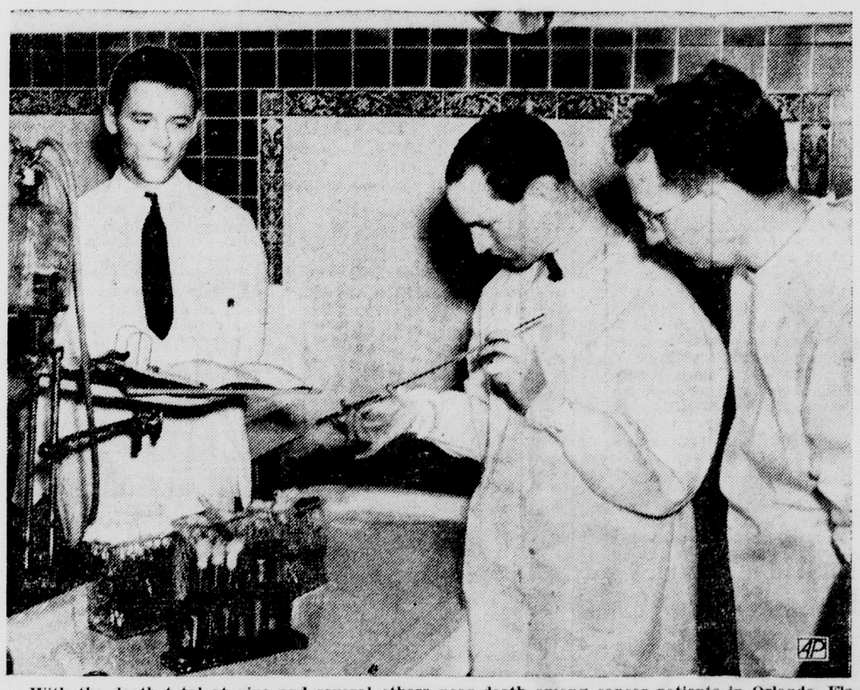

The sheriff said the men were taken to Colfax, Calif., by automobile and then released. Among those dismissed, the sheriff said, was Albert Garsio, financial secretary and CIO leader in Nevada City for the past year. Tobiassen said Garsio had agreed to stay out of Nevada City for six months. Fifteen men were given hospital treatment after a fierce but brief battle between CIO pickets and non-striking miners.

Sale of Magazines With Birth Control Art Is Questioned

Whether or not magazine photographs showing the birth of a baby are objectionable, sale of the magazine probably will not be prohibited in Santa Ana, police and local ministers indicated today.

Tomorrow's issue of Life magazine encountered a police ban in Pittsfield and Springfield, Mass., and Bridgeport, Conn., the Associated Press reported, on grounds the pictures were "muffled propaganda on birth control" and "nothing educational."

Doctors Investigate Cancer-Serum Deaths

With the death total at nine and several others near death among cancer patients in Orlando, Fla., who were given injections of a serum at a clinic, investigations were under way by (left to right) Dr. J. J. Scanlon, Louis C. Herring and Dr. J. N. Patterson. They are shown after an autopsy on one of the victims.

WAY CLEARED FOR 'SUNRISE'

The last legal barrier to distribution of The Journal's Wednesday morning Sunrise edition was removed today when City Judge J. G. Mitchell formally dismissed charges against T. R. Alvord, assistant business manager.

The motion for dismissal of two counts of alleged violations of the city's so-called "handbill ordinance" was taken under advisement March 29, and Judge Mitchell returned his decision today "in view of yesterday's superior court decision."

Superior Judge H. G. Ames yesterday had granted an injunction suit by publishers of The Journal in which police are restrained from interference with the Sunrise edition on grounds it "is simply an edition of a regularly established newspaper in this city."

5 Years Ago Today Beer Began to Run

WASHINGTON. (AP)—It was five years ago today—remember?—that legal beer began flowing again in the United States. Representative Cullen (D., N. Y.), coauthor of the 1933 bill that legalized its sale, estimated that since then the brew has brought in more than a billion dollars in federal taxes.

Bigamy Is Felony But Two Bigamies Don't Count—Law

Bigamy is a felony, but two bigamies don't count.

On that premise, Harry M. Raymond was free of bigamy charges today after showing in Santa Ana justice court that his first wife was already married when he wedded her in Nevada—and that he knew it at the time.

The technicality, as explained by Deputy Dist. Atty. Harold McCabe, who moved for dismissal of the charges: Raymond wasn't legally married to his first wife, and he knew he wasn't, so he committed no real offense in his second marriage.

SEWER FUND IS ASSURED

The sponsor's share for rebuilding 982 feet of the joint outfall sewer line north of the coast highway and construction of settling basins at the screening plant will be furnished by the state, according to a communication received by city officials. The allocation amounts to $45,000.

Allocation of state funds for these two items from the $5,000,000 appropriated by the California legislature for flood repair work directly fits into the program of the state, authorities here said today. Both the 982 feet of pipe and the screening plant were rendered inoperative definitely because of the flood.

Total cost of rebuilding and repairing section one of the line will amount to $322,386, of which the WPA has agreed to furnish $202,843. The total sponsor's share is $119,543, less the $45,000.

Gandhi in Setback From Daylong Fast

Governor Signs Delinquent Bill

SACRAMENTO. (AP) — Californians today had until Aug. 20 to pay delinquent property taxes under a bill passed by the recent session of legislature and signed yesterday by Gov. Frank F. Merriam. The time was extended from April 20.

WPA GRANTS FLOOD JOBS

The WPA today granted three flood rehabilitation projects at Fullerton, Anaheim and Laguna Beach with an aggregate value of $21,152.

Largest of these is at Anaheim, embracing work at six school grounds. The sponsor's share of the cost will amount to $1400 and the WPA will furnish $9581. One hundred and fifty men will be employed for one month.

At Fullerton, the rehabilitation of city streets, regrading Fullerton creek and other cleanup work will cost $8269 of which the government is to expend $7869. Work will be provided for 126 men for one month on this activity. A similar project at Laguna Beach will take 31 men one month's time to complete, costing $2702, of which the WPA is to furnish $2152.

BEET RETURNS $4.25 A POUND

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The agricultural adjustment administration reported today the average return processors received for beet sugar produced in 1936 was $4.25 per 100-pound bag.

The total amount asked, it said, was 1,300,000 tons of refined sugar, or 1,342,000 tons, raw value, compared with a quota of 1,550,000 tons, raw value, under the sugar quota system then in effect.

The amount of sugar beets purchased was reported at 8,905,000 tons and the amount sliced for processing 8,767,000 tons. The number of acres contracted for production of beets was 889,000, the number planted 836,000 and the number harvested 765,000, the AAA said.

Sugar content averaged 16.13 per cent.

British Councilman Found in Whangpoo

SHANGHAI. (AP)—The body of Harold Porter, 58, British vice chairman of the Shanghai municipal council, was found today in the Whangpoo river. He had been missing two weeks.

Police said there were no marks of violence on the body.

AUTHORITIES ACT TO HALT SICKNESS

No Cause for Alarm, Says Health Officer

The March 3 flood is blamed by the county health department as being indirectly responsible for an increase of communicable diseases, including scarlet fever, measles, smallpox, chicken pox, common colds and influenza.

Persons mildly ill during a flood will take less precautions owing to the fact their attention is attracted toward the disaster, the health department says, with the result they mingle more freely with other persons and increase the chances of spreading disease.

Many folks were required to move from their homes as a result of the deluge and this added to the possibility of diseases spreading, the health department points out. There is no reason, however, for alarm.

Nearly all pupils at the Newport Grammar school and a large proportion of the high school students have been vaccinated during the past few days by the health department against smallpox, Dr. K. H. Sutherland said this morning. Two hundred and fifty persons at Costa Mesa have been given a similar treatment.

Sutherland has placed a 14-day quarantine upon all persons in Newport Beach who have not been vaccinated during the past five years and have been exposed to smallpox. Thirty cases of a mild form of the disease have been reported at Newport and one case of infantile paralysis has come to the attention of authorities in Costa Mesa.

One family in Santa Ana is now under quarantine, with five persons suffering from smallpox.

STRIKE HALTS DETROIT CARS

DETROIT. (AP) — Upwards of half a million Detroiters who normally use the city's street railway system sought other means of transportation today as an American Federation of Labor union struck because of a dispute over seniority rights.

At the rush hour this morning no street cars were operating, and automobile traffic was moving slowly because of thousands of additional motor cars.

Bus lines were operating under police protection, taxicabs were doing the best business is years and thousands walked or thumbed rides.

The Detroit street railway, a municipal system, which also operates the bus lines, announced all striking employes would be discharged if they were not back on the job at 2 p. m. today.

Wharf Blaze Hits Tampico

MEXICO CITY. (AP)—Dispatches from Tampico today told of a $375,000 fire which yesterday destroyed a dock used to load lead, silver and other metals for shipment abroad.

Fifteen freight cars loaded with an estimated 2800 tons of lead were caught in the fire, the cause of which was not determined. The metal was turned into a flowing mass. A dozen small houses were burned.

A Norwegian vessel, the Trafalgar, was slightly damaged.

Santa Ana Wind Plays Few Tricks

The famous Santa Ana wind huffed and puffed this morning—and blew in a 10 by 12-foot window at the Southern California Edison company office in Orange.

Located on the Olive street side of the intersection of Olive and West Chapman avenue, the window bent under the wind pressure and finally shattered at 8:30 a. m.

House Vote Backs New Measure As Solons In Battle

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The house refused today to kill the government reorganization bill. The teller vote was 191 to 169. The ballot, a victory for the administration, was on a motion by Representative O'Connor (D., N. Y.) to "strike out the enacting clause"—without which the bill would have been ineffective and meaningless. The measure was thrown open to amendment immediately afterward.

Representative Warren (D., N. C.) offered the first of two amendments which backers of the bill had promised to meet some of the opposition protests against it. It was to exempt the federal office of education specifically from any reorganization program.

CARDINAL'S MESSAGE

In support of the proposal, Warren announced he had been authorized to read a telegram which he said President Roosevelt received at 12:10 p. m. (EST) today from Cardinal Mundelein in Chicago.

The telegram said that "as a result of my own investigation" and on the basis of information gathered from "reliable and informed sources" the Catholic churchman could not find that "the welfare or freedom of the Catholic church is in any way menaced" by the pending bill.

The cardinal said the only reason he was making that statement was that the Catholic church had been drawn into the discussion of the education features of the legislation.

VICTORY FORECAST

Backers of the bill said the vote rejecting O'Connor's motion was a sure indication the house would pass the measure eventually. But opponents still had opportunities to attempt to defeat it after disposition of amendments.

So great was the confusion following announcement of the vote

GOP SELECTS DELEGATES

Stanley Goode and Arthur Eklund last night were named chairman and secretary, respectively, of the delegation of 150 Republican party members from district one (Santa Ana) who will attend the pre-primary convention at Riverside, April 23.

Selection was made at a meeting at the Lincoln school with approximately half of the district one delegates in attendance. Justus Craemer, chairman of the Republican state assembly and Frank Latham were among those speaking. A joint session was announced for April 18 with delegates in the Orange district, the meeting place to be announced later. At this occasion, candidates for congress on the Republican ticket from the 19th district will speak.

Franco Fighters Nearing Seacoast

HENDAYE, France, At the Spanish Frontier, (AP)—Government defenses crumbled before a fresh insurgent march to Spain's east coast today as Insurgent red and Gold banners fluttered at the village of Vallibona.

The village is 22 miles from the seacoast city of Vinaroz. General Franco's armored columns there threatened to outflank the government left wing defending the Ebro river delta city of Tortosa from positions in the Razas and Montenegrelo mountains.

The Insurgent right wing marched from Morella while fierce counter-attacks from reinforced government units staved off further frontal advances upon Tortosa.

MILLIONS SET FOR HOUSING

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Administrator Nathan Straus earmarked today an additional $70,920,000 of United States housing authority funds for low cost housing and slum clearance operations.

Total earmarkings now amount to $225,466,000 for 67 communities in 18 states.

Additional earmarkings announced for six cities already participating in the program were as follows:

New York City, $12,000,000 (Total $30,000,000).

Detroit, Mich., $15,000,000 (Total $25,000,000).

Philadelphia, Pa., $10,000,000 (Total $22,000,000).

Cleveland, Ohio, $9,000,000 (Total $18,000,000).

Baltimore, $9,600,000 (Total $15,000,000).

Pittsburgh, $3,500,000 (Total $13,500,000).

Townsend Denies KHJ Radio Claim

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, founder of the pension plan bearing his name, denied today the sentence deleted by radio station KHJ from his manuscript was an appeal for funds and an attack on the President of the United States.

Such a statement was made by Lewis Allen Weiss, general manager of the Don Lee network, of which KHJ is a member, after Dr. Townsend announced he had canceled his contract with the station because of the deletion. The broadcast was set for last Monday night.

BLUM'S PLEA FOR DICTATORIAL POWERS OVER FINANCE REJECTED

Despite Threat of Mass Demonstration Of Leftists Senate Vot es Against Move

BULLETIN

PARIS. (AP)—More than 10,000 leftists protesting senate opposition to Premier Blum's demand for dictatorial financial powers fought police and rightists outside the senate late today. Crowds surged through the streets near the senate building, screaming "Down with the senate!" The demonstrators attacked gendarmes with chairs and bottles. More than 1000 police were arrayed to prevent the masses of Socialists, Communists and anarchists from making good the shouted threat to march on the senate and "hang" Joseph Caillaux, 74-year-old president of the senate finance committee and leader of the Blum opposition.

PARIS. (AP)—The senate finance committee, in spite of the threat of a mass demonstration of leftists, today flatly rejected Premier Blum's demand for dictatorial powers over finance by a vote of 25 to 6. The left wing of the premier's own Socialist party carried forward preparations for a huge meeting tonight outside the Luxembourg palace, housing the senate, in defiance of the shaky Blum government's ban on the demonstration.

The more militant Socialist element refused to cancel the demonstration call in spite of an interior ministry order, which Blum approved.

The finance committee's action foreshadowed defeat for the premier in the senate tomorrow—with the downfall of his cabinet—on his finance bill, for which he won grudging approval of the chamber of deputies yesterday.

The demonstration call was made in huge red posters with which Paris was plastered this morning, signed by Marceau Pivert, militant leader of the Socialist left wing which planned thereby to show the mass strength of the premier's popular support.

The posters declared that "a group of dry hearted old men in their senatorial bastille" had been "sabotaging" the work of the People's Front government.

The police guard around the senate was reinforced in view of the expected demonstration, but many senators said they would ask that the afternoon session be prolonged through the evening to show their scorn of the Leftists. The session was discussing minor details of a law on labor accidents.

The senate finance committee, contrary to usual practice, rejected Blum's finance bill without formulating a new bill containing those parts the committee was able to accept.

The committee will report to the full sessions of the senate tomorrow, stating its reasons for rejecting the bill and calling on the upper house to follow its decision.

Strikes, an important element in France's social-political turmoil, increased. Twelve hundred workers of a company manufacturing telephone equipment for government service, joined the 45,000 workers already on strike. They wanted new collective contracts, a demand figuring in most of the strikes.

JAPS RETREAT BEFORE NEW CHINESE DRIVE

SHANGHAI. (AP)—The Kwangsi military chieftain, Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, reported today that Japanese were "in full retreat" from Taierhchwang, the Shantung province village whose mud walls have been flattened by nearly three weeks of battle north of the Grand canal.

Gen. Li said his warriors went over the top at dusk last night in a third offensive and that the Japanese, unable to withstand the fierce assault, began retiring toward Tsaochwang at dawn.

The victorious Chinese began mopping up stragglers along the narrow gauge railroad which runs northward through Tsaochwang to connect with the main Tientsin-Pukow railway.

It was along the Tientsin-Pukow which Japanese aimed their separating Japanese occupied North and Central China.

Japanese claimed complete occupation of Taierhchwang April 4.

Gen. Li reported his victory as the Bloody but undeclared war entered its tenth month.

The Chinese-Japanese armies were locked in a stalemate along a 500-mile battle line bordering the Yellow river in the heart of China.

Midwest Calendar Turned Back To Winter by Snows

CHICAGO. (AP) — Fresh snow blanketed a wide expanse of territory between the Rockies and the Eastern Seaboard today in the wake of a storm that turned the calendar back to midwinter.

Rain, sleet, dust, hail, and tornadic winds lashed at sections of the nation which escaped the snowstorm.

Heavy, wet snowdrifts three and four feet deep challenged highway crews. Snow plows, hastily retrived from summer storage, opened most principal highways but many rural lanes were still choked.

The snowfall broke April records in many cities and was the deepest of the winter at some spots. Counties in Southwest Michigan reported 30 to 36 inches of snow.

One death was reported in South Dakota and fears were felt for a man missing in the vicinity of Scottsbluff, Neb., where snow ranged up to a foot in depth. Wessington Springs, S. D., reported 17 inches of snow.

Hundreds of telephone and telegraph poles snapped under the weight of snow and ice in Nebraska and Iowa. Many rural schools were closed in Iowa and South Dakota because of snow-choked highways. The storm disrupted bus service in Southern Wisconsin.

Large crews labored to keep city traffic moving.

About 1400 city workers and scores of streetcar and bus company employes tackled Chicago's 9.1 inch snowfall, which exceeded by almost three inches the record for April snows in the history of the weather bureau.

A gravel boat bound up the Chicago river crashed into the Lake Street bridge when it failled to lift because of an ice coating. Virtually all roads 50 miles north and south of the city were almost impassable. In Southern Illinois and Indiana freezing rains coated highways with ice.

HOUSE VOTE BACKS FDR

that Representative Crawford (R., Mich.) had to shout through cupped hands in an attempt to address the chair.

Shouts of "Vote, vote," mingled with applause when O'Connor went down into the well of the chamber to make his proposal.

In so doing, he blocked, at least for the time being, a series of amendments which the special reorganization committee was forced to write on the floor after a parliamentary objection by Representative Taber (R., N. Y.) had been sustained.

NO COMPROMISE

"Mr. Chairman," O'Connor said, "in offering my motion to strike out the enacting clause from the bill, I am taking the step which I believe the people of this country desire—and at this time."

He said every letter and telegram coming to him from over the nation says, "No compromise, no amendments will cure the bill."

"Those responsible for bringing this bill in here have realized for some time," he declared, "that they have a bear by the tail. We are trying to help them let go."

Pacific Mutual Ruling Attacked

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—A new motion to set aside the reorganization of the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance company in 1936 was on file in superior court today.

Brought in the name of Fannie R. Hutchins, stockholder of the old company, the motion attacked the legality of court orders by which State Insurance Commissioner Carpenter was appointed conservator of Pacific Mutual and its reorganization and reinsurance agreement were approved.

One of three lawyers who filed the motion was William H. Neblett, whose previous attempts in state and federal courts failed to invalidate the reorganization.

A hearing was set for April 13.

MRS. BRACKNEY LEAVES $13'500

Mrs. Sadie A. Brackney of Santa Ana, who died at the age of 71 on April 2, left cash bequests to relatives totaling $13,500, it was revealed today as her will was filed for probate in superior court.

Joe C. Burke, Los Angeles attorney, filed the will, in which he was named executor. He estimated the annual income of the estate, classed as "exceeding $10,000," at $1500, consisting of cash and a trust deed.

Bequests included $4000 to a nephew, Harry T. Cypher of Whittier; personal effects to a grandniece, Sadie B. Cypher of Whittier; $2000 to a niece, Nita Cook of Butler, Pa.; $750 each to two nephews, Jack and William Cypher of Puente; $1000 to Clarence Walker of La Habra, nephew of her deceased husband; $2000 to Blanche Woods of Inglewood, and $3000 to Mrs. Amber Burke of Santa Ana, nieces of her deceased husband.

Her longest stay at any one was six months, and the shortest one month.

The frequent changes were made as her parents moved about the country. Mary Alice enrolled in an Atlanta school this week.

Among other places that have contributed to her education are Toledo, Ohio; East St. Louis, Ill.; Jacksonville and Daytona Beach, Fla., and Savannah, Macon, Albany and Augusta, in Georgia.

New-Fangled Door Basis of Suit

LONG BEACH.—One of those new-fangled garage doors which open from the top instead of the side was the subject of a $5056 suit here.

Lee Hildreth sued the Jotham Bixby Co., Deeble-Chapman Co. and Z. E. Dickerson, charging that while they were demonstrating an overhead garage door to her last Oct. 31, she got a blow on the head which injured her severely.

Five Dozen Eggs In Single Meal Wins Contest

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—If Robert Sauls crossed off eggs on his breakfast menu, he had good reason.

Entered in a contest recently Sauls, a mill employe, ate five dozen eggs and won easily. His nearest rival, Perry Corwin, got away with only 42.

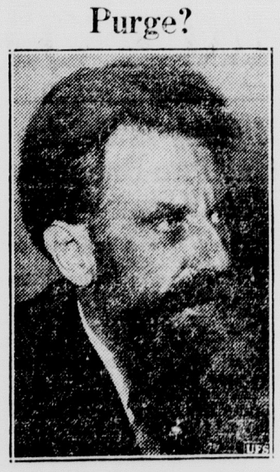

The eggs were poached and boiled.

FALSE ARREST CASE APPEALED

Bert Cline of Corona del Mar carried into superior court today his fight to escape a $200 judgment for malicious prosecution, obtained against him by 17-year-old Donald MacGillivray.

MacGillivray, Los Angeles youth arrested on a peace disturbance charge in Newport Beach last April 18, got judgment from Cline in justice court after he was acquitted. Cline assertedly told police MacGillivray was a "porch-climber."

Sex Threatens Frisco's Famous Exposition

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Sex, tabooed in statuary designed to adorn the 1939 Golden Gate International exposition, may come back in the flesh.

Commercial producers of girl attractions dazzled exposition officials today with million dollar figures in their efforts to obtain a concession on leg-showing at the fair.

Promoter John Murray Anderson recalled that Little Egypt (a woman, not a British protectorate) grossed $2,275,000 for the 1893 Chicago world's fair and Sally Rand brought Chicago's more recent exposition $1,465,000.

MAYOR HUNTS MERIT SYSTEM

Mayor Fred C. Rowland, City Atty. Lew Blodget and members of the local civil service commission are today looking over the tentative rules and regulations for the fire and police department merit system.

This material will be re-submitted to Doris Haney Jones, civil service consultant, who will make suggested corrections before returning it to the commission and the council for final approval. Classification lists will be ready in another week or 10 days, according to Phil Brown, secretary of the board.

Patent Rights Bill to Face Radical Change

Copyright 1938 by Science Service

WASHINGTON.—The McFarlane bill, which would have cracked down on patent monopolies by providing for compulsory licensing of patents after three years, has been withdrawn by its sponsor in favor of a sharply modified version, it has been learned here.

Framed now in terms that clearly indicate its anti-monopolistic intent, the revised McFarlane bill provides for compulsory licensing of patents at the end of five years in the event that the patent has not been developed or that the patent owner is unable to meet the demand for his product or charges an "excessive price."

Introduced by Representative McFarlane, Texas Democrat, the earlier bill had aroused a storm of opposition from technical societies, headed by the American Chemical society and the American Engineering council.

The provision of the new law compelling licensing in the event a patent is not developed for commercial use within five years of its issuance is aimed at a practice believed widespread, particularly among large corporations. The practice consists in getting "cover-up" patents on competing devices or on ideas that have not yet been brought to the practical development stage to protect the patents on which the company's business is based.

Consideration of the new bill, H. R. 10068, is not, however, expected at this session of congress.

THREE BRITISH FLIERS KILLED

LONDON. (AP)—Three Royal Air Force fliers were killed today when their reconnaissance plane exploded and fell into the North Sea.

The air ministry officially identified the plane which had been the object of a widespread search near Dudgeon light, where it was seen to burst into flame. Searchers found only oil patches and bits of wreckage.

The crash was the 34th in the royal air force since Jan. 1, and raised its death toll to 58 since then.

The plane had been on a night routine navigation flight and had radioed all well.

Yank Battalion Wiped Out In Franco Campaign

PERPIGNAN, France, at the Spanish Frontier. (AP)—A Californian who had acted as political commissar for the Washington and Lincoln battalion of one of the Spanish government's international brigades reached France today with a story of death among his American comrades.

John G. Honeycombe, 37, Los Angeles, said only a few hundred out of several thousand Americans who had fought since the beginning of the Spanish civil war as volunteers for the government were still alive.

Tattered and hungry, Honeycombe crossed the frontier after what he called "the Gandesa collapse," in which 560 Americans of the Washington and Lincoln battalion were caught in the path of Gen. Francisco Franco's offensive.

Gandesa fell last Saturday to the insurgent push toward the Mediterranean.

Honeycombe said he came to Spain Aug. 14 with six other volunteers but that only two of the group still lived—he and Alonzo Prowell, a negro, of Los Angeles. The Californian listed the others:

Pritz Orton of San Francisco, killed at Gandesa last Monday.

Peter Antheros of New York City, killed at Belchite.

A man named Manning, of Seattle, killed at Belchite.

A man named Lightner, of Lexington, Ky., killed at Caspadas.

A man named Fosher, of Minneapolis, missing in action at Belchite.

FORMER TEXAS ATHLETE KILLED

LONGVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Charles A. Deware, sr., 50, one of the greatest athletes in Texas A. and M. college's history, is dead from injuries received in an automobile crash near here which claimed the lives of three others.

Deware, Brenham resident, was the father of Charles A. Deware, jr., freshman football coach at A. and M. and all-Southwest center of 1937. The elder Deware captained the Aggie team of 1908.

Colorado Town Goes Dry Again

FOWLER, Colo. (AP)—By a margin of two votes, Fowler became Southern Colorado's first town to "go dry" since prohibition was repealed.

The ballot count on yesterday's local option vote was 198 to 196 to prohibit the sale of anything stronger than 3.2 per cent beer within the town's limits.

At Hayden, in northwest Colorado's mountain country, dry forces were defeated in a similar local option ballot, 164 to 114.

U. S. SCIENTIST FINDS POTION WAS POISONED

Doctor Absolved in Patient's Treatment

The strange deaths in Orlando, Fla., of E. F. Bolte, 70, uncle of R. C. Bolte, Orange county school superintendent's aide, and 10 other persons was caused by a "cancer serum containing tetanus toxin," a coroner's jury verdict on file in Florida revealed today.

The jury absolved of all blame Dr. T. A. Neal who said he treated patients with the serum.

(Copyright 1938, Science Service

WASHINGTON. — The cancer drug "Rex", reported by government scientists to have been the probable cause of cancer patient deaths in Orlando, Fla., because of possible contamination, is known to the chemical and medical profession as a bacterial filtrate. It is made by growing specific bacteria on specific food (media) and filtering and otherwise purifying the resulting products.

As waste products of their growth on media, organism can, in some cases, create enzymes which have the power to break down proteins as is done in digestion.

Of these so-called proteolytic enzymes scientists have theorized that they might, in some cases, break down the tissue of cancer cells but not attack the neighboring normal body cells. If, somehow, this situation could be brought about it might result in a cure for cancer. This has been the goal behind research on the study of proteolytic enzymes obtained from bacteria.

The product Rex is a bacterial filtrate of this sort. Normally it is purified in manufacture and has been given for some time (but only by physicians) without the effects such as those which have occurred in Orlando, where the trouble has been traced to contamination.

In the February issue of the Journal of The Franklin institute, Dr. McDonald, director of the Biochemical Research Foundation of The Franklin institute, presented his annual report on the activities of his research organization. Discussing the research on bacterial filtrates and the production of bacterial enzymes, Dr. McDonald said:

"This project is the outgrowth of our work on the bacterial filtrates developed for cancer treatment. In the early stages of that investigation, it was believed that the active principle was a proteolytic enzyme, specific to cancer protein, which was secreted by the microorganism Cl. histolyticum when grown on a cancer tissue medium. This idea of the enzymatic nature of the active principle is no longer accepted, but certain principles are still valid.

"Our general problem is to study the factors which influence the production of proteolytic enzymes by bacteria, the properties of these enzymes and how affected by changes in the culture medium, and finally, the possibility of training the bacteria to produce proteolytic enzymes which are specific to particular proteins.

Kenny to Address Welfare Center

Herbert F. Kenny will review and analyze the entire old-age pension situation at the meeting of the Santa Ana General Welfare Center in the Unitarian church, Eighth and Bush streets, this evening at 7:30.

"Recent rebuffs at the hands of the ways and means committee in congress have their significance," Kenny said this morning, "and we want to know the facts relative to the General Welfare Act, H. R. 4199. Where do we go from here?" Frank Kendall will preside. The public is invited.

High Flights Cut Down Supply Of Oxygen Is Claim

By JANE STAFFORD
(Science Service Medical Writer)
Copyright 1938 by Science Service

BALTIMORE. — First experiments on the dangerous cumulative effects of lack of oxygen for short periods such as in frequent short flights at high altitudes were reported by Capt. H. G. Armstrong, medical corps, U. S. A. to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology here.

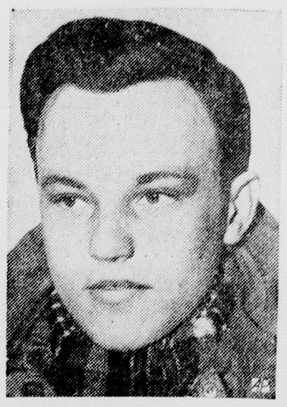

Pilots do not get acclimatized to high altitudes as mountaineers do, Capt. Armstrong's research indicates. Lessons learned from mountain climbing expeditions cannot, therefore, be applied to high altitude aviation.

Capt. Armstrong's findings explain why pilots on commercial airplanes complain more and more of chronic fatigue even though they only fly at high altitudes for an average of 3 hours a day. The reason is that the effects of short periods at high altitudes pile up and in time the combined effect may produce dangerous lack of oxygen in the tissues.

Rabbits, which can stand altitude one one-half times higher than man, did all right for the first two weeks of daily four-hour "flights" to 18,000 feet, which would correspond to about 12,000 feet for man. After the two weeks, they suddenly began to deteriorate, losing weight, becoming anemic, paralyzed and most of them dying by the fourth week.

Even if engineers could find a safe, comfortable way to supply pilots and passengers with oxygen for high altitude flights, they would not have entirely solved the problem and removed the danger. Capt. Armstrong found that while rabbits could go to an average altitude of 38,000 feet without oxygen, many were dead at an additional 12,000 feet even when breathing essentially pure oxygen.

KERN SHEEP MEN ON STRIKE

BAKERSFIELD, (AP)—Demanding a closed shop and use of union labels on wool, more than 150 sheep shearers were on strike today in various sections of Kern county.

The sheriff's office maintained a vigil to stop any violence. The Associated Sheep Shearers were reported unofficially to be considering bringing in outside shearers should the strike continue.

The sheriff was informed there was some picketing at the Kern County Land company warehouse. Deputies escorted at least one sheep shearing truck safely through the county.

CLUB LEADERS NAMED BY LONG

Sam Long, installed last night by R. C. Smedley as the new presidnet of the Toastmasters club, today announced his committee appointments for the ensuing year. They are as follows:

Dr. W. L. Jolivette, Eugene Kruger, D. H. Tibbals and Long, program; Supt. H. O. Ensign, Daniel K. Brown and W. O. Mendenhall, membership and attendance; Robert Scove, Dr. J. P. Mayor Kane believes public shame will reduce the number of intoxication cases. Maybe he's right.

DIVORCE SUIT ALLEGATIONS MEET DENIAL

Allegations of James E. Cardwell, Santa Ana fireman and party to a sensational if unsuccessful divorce suit here last month, were denied today by W. H. Kistinger, named in Cardwell's cross-complaint as one of several "other men" with whom his wife assertedly had dates.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames denied both Cardwell and his wife, Florence E. Cardwell, their complaints for divorce on grounds each had established a cause of action against the other. The courts' opinion referred to "malodorous" details of testimony in the sensational case.

Cardwell's cross-complaint alleged his wife went into a booth at the Golden Camel, Santa Ana night club, with Kistinger, remained there an hour and a half, and that Kistinger emerged with lipstick on his face. Kistinger today denied the allegation, saying in a statement to The Journal:

"When I returned home from school last week-end I was confronted with certain newspaper items which linked my name with certain divorce proceedings. The statements were absolutely void of truth, as far as I am concerned, and wish to make this understood as my stand regarding the matter. It is for this reason that I have asked the newspapers to print this statement so that I might have an opportunity of declaring publicly my denial of statements so trumped-up as the ones in reference.

"W. H. KISTINGER."

Club Hears Show Song Numbers

Excerpts in song from the musical comedy, "Howdy Stranger," were brought to the Breakfast club this morning by members of the cast, which is to put on the performance this evening at the junior college, the participants being Miss Nina Robertson, Miss Mary Stevier, Wilbur Marsters, Onie Sanders. A vocal number, "When the Bells in the Lighthouse Ring Ding Dong," was by Jack Sampica, basso profundo. The program was in charge of Robert Andrews.

Prof. James Thomas discussed briefly from the T.-P. A. standpoint the interest father should take in the education of their children, insisting that the character foundation was laid in the home.

Funeral Rites For Traffic Victim

Funeral services will be conducted at 10 a. m. Friday in the Dixon chapel at Costa Mesa for Miss Nell Saunders, who was killed when struck by an automobile there Sunday evening. Members of Huntington Beach chapter, Order of Eastern Star, will be in charge of the service. Burial will be in Westminster Memorial park.

Miss Saunders is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Leigh Painter of Spokane, Wash., and Mrs. Laura Tracey of Sidney, Australia. She is a native of England, had resided in this country for 25 years and in Costa Mesa since last October.

FARM FILING DEADLINE SET

Orange county farmers have filed approximately 100 worksheets this year with the Agricultural Conservation association, according to Secretary John H. Burnett. The deadline for submitting such reports under the crop land phase is April 15, he announced today.

Most of the ranchers who turned in 5719 worksheets in 1937 will not be required to file again this year, but persons reporting last year who have since changed their operations must again file before the deadline.

Filing worksheets in the crop land phase of the program should not be confused with submitting preliminary forms under the 1938 range program, it is emphasized. The range and crop land phases of the program are entirely separate and the requirements for participation are also independent of each other. A closing date for filing application for range examinations will be announced later.

Robinson Estate Asked Probated

Probate of the will of the late Mary Elizabeth Robinson of Fullerton was asked today in a superior court petition by Y. W. Ramsey of Fullerton, son of a deceased sister, to whom Mrs. Robinson had willed her property.

The estate, Ramsey said, will not exceed $5000 in value, and consists of stocks and corporation and foreign bonds.

JUVENILE HOME CASES MAKE GOOD CITIZENS, SAYS JUDGE

Ames Writes on 'Errant Child and His Retrieval' in Magazine

Between 85 and 90 per cent of cases handled in the county juvenile home are returned to the channels of good citizenship, Superior Judge H. G. Ames wrote today in the April issue of the California Federation News, magazine of the California Federation of Women's Clubs.

Judge Ames' article on "The Errant Child and His Retrieval" cited history of juvenile court procedure in California.

"Today's juvenile legislation," Judge Ames wrote, "harks back in spirit to the age-old instinct. It is not straining similitude to call it the law of the Prodigal Son and the Los Sheep of Scripture. The essence of its purpose is to retrieve and reclaim."

The youthful offender is no longer treated as a criminal, the juvenile court judge wrote in tracing juvenile laws from 1903 to the present. He stressed importance of religion, Boy Scout and Y. M. C. A. and other organizational training in keeping children out of trouble. He commented on formation of a Boy Scout troop in the local juvenile home, saying "If the Boy Scouts are good medicine to preevnt delinquency, surely they are good medicine to cure it."

Family Fight Over Conduct of $75,000 Estate Threatens

A fight loomed today over the $75,000 estate of Mrs. Emma Mueller of Orange, who died March 19, as four of her children opposed administration of the property by their brother, Royal Mueller.

Mueller was granted special letters of administration in the estate, which includes 55 acres of orange groves, when he filed a will for probate March 23.

Later he cited two of his sisters and a brother-in-law, Mrs. Dora Rohrs, Herman Bandick and Mrs. Emma Bandick, into court to determine the extent of personal property of the estate assertedly in their possession. They entered a demurrer to the citation, asked that their brother be removed as special administrator and demanded that he produce the will.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames continued hearings on the proceedings until tomorrow afternoon, since Mueller's application for probate of the will is to be heard by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel tomorrow morning. Sisters and brothers opposing the administrator are Mrs. Rohrs, Mrs. Bandick, Mrs. Sophie Klatt and Edwin H. Mueller.

'Iron Lung' Subject Of Meeting Talk

A representative from the Los Angeles hospital will talk Friday noon in Daniger's cafe on the "iron lung" before members of the directorate of the Crippled Children's Relief association of Orange county.

Two Injured In Auto Collision

Collision with a parked car yesterday injured Lynn Morrison, route 1 box 484, Orange, and Ruth Townsend, 517 South Broadway, Santa Ana.

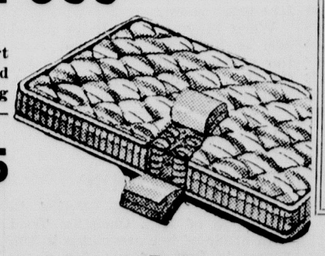

The two were riding in Morrison's car when it struck a parked auto registered to Edgar Lents, 734 Grand avenue. The accident occurred in front of Lents' home.

Morrison suffered shock and Miss Townsend was cut and bruised.

RAMBLING AROUND ORANGE COUNTY —with— T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

Orange had a birthday yesterday, and I had a good chuckle.

The town was 50 years old, but no one was very excited about it.

However, in reviewing actions of the first city council, it turned out members of that old board drew lots to see who would serve long and short terms.

And, if I remember correctly, the town originally received its name from a gambling game.

Sorta strange start for such a staid, respectable community, huh?

* * *

I seem to recall reading that civic-minded early day residents argued over how to name their community and finally decided on a poker game, with the winner to be allowed to christen the growing village.

Of course, the winner was the guy who'd picked out "Orange."

I'm wondering if he held maybe a royal flush, or was there a joker in the deck?

* * *

Speaking of cards, someday have M. M. McCallen, Huntington Beach oil baron, tell you his story about a card game down South in the good old days. It's a side-splitter. And, at the same time, you might ask Judge Patten, also from our neighboring oil town, to tell one about the mules and the Swedes. Unless you're a Swede—you mightn't like it, then!

* * *

Mingled shortly with the two story tellers, Police Chief Grant, Councilman Lee Chamness and Engineer Harry Overmyer the other night. Talking over old times 'n things.

Engineer Harry, the old meany, had the nerve to advise this department it was getting too fat. And later he admitted he's picked up 10 pounds or so himself in the past few months!

* * *

These guys aren't going to like this much, but it simply can't be helped.

It's about the Midway City firemen.

You'll remember we had quite a story a few days ago about the gasoline tanker fire at Huntington Beach, when a lot of spectators and numerous firemen were sprayed with burning gas, some of them suffering serious hurts.

Well, another fire alarm came in at 2 o'clock yesterday morning.

And the fire fighters, bandages, aches and pains and other equipment, tore right out to fight fires again.

They clambered painfully on their scorched truck and spent a coupe of hours saving equipment and chickens for a nearby farmer.

Jess Beaver, the driver and Ed Von Rohr, most seriously burned members of the crew, were right on hand with the rest of the crew, and did their share in battling the flames.

I think someone should pat those guys on their respective backs when that part of their anatomy is sufficiently recovered from burns. They aren't regularly-paid firemen. They're volunteers. Businessmen and oil men and such. They work just as willingly and as efficiently as if they're being well paid for the job.

As a reward, I hope none of 'em get sunburned this summer!

* * *

I'm glad I'm not running for public office in Newport Beach.

Things, it seems, are warming up considerably down there.

Yesterday a well-wisher handed over a copy of a circular printed in newspaper style which attacked the present government considerable. And at the same time told what good guys a couple of other candidates are.

But I still think I'd vote for Lloyd Claire for councilman—if I were a voter, and I'm not by several blocks!

The funniest thing about this circular business is that it was printed in Huntington Beach—and I'll bet that made Uncle Sam Meyer mad. Sam's in the printing business in Newport, when he's not handing out cigarets to newspapermen.

* * *

For a week, now, I've been worried abut a canine situation.

Every morning on the way to work, I'd always see a man walking toward the grocery store—or if I were late, he'd be walking back.

And always, frisking about him, was a very handsome pooch. You could see they both were enjoying the trip. The dog would be grinning all over, and his master couldn't do anything but look happy.

Lately I've seen the man a time or two, but not the dog.

Hope nothing's happened to him!

Alamitos Friends To Hold Meeting

ALIMITOS.—The monthly meeting of the Friends church Brotherhood will be held Friday evening with a pot-luck supper at 7 o'clock. A representative of the Southern California Edison company will be present to discuss new electrical appliances for the home. Students of the high school music department will be presented by their instructor H. Leland Green in a musical program

ORANGE BOARD BOOSTS 50TH YEAR EVENT

Funds for Fete Given to Chamber

ORANGE.—Several items were approved last night by city council members which tended to smooth matters for those preparing the 50-year celebration of the founding of the city, to be staged May 2 and 3.

A full page advertising the city of Orange, telling of the accomplishments of the city government and pictures of the council was bought from the Orange Daily News, to appear in its jubilee edition. The cost was $123.48.

A warrant for $400 of the jubilee fund budgeted by the city was turned over to the chamber of commerce to meet expenses.

The city clerk was instructed to write to the high school board requesting the use of the athletic field for the horse show and athletic events.

Three lifeguards were employed. Lois Terry of softball fame, George Richardson and John Daum, to work at the city plunge. The three will receive the same salary as they drew last year.

Drama Arts Pupils Heard in Recital At Garden Grove

GARDEN GROVE.—The annual public recital for piano and dramatic art students of Hazel Filer Kuenzli was held Tuesday evening at the Garden Grove First Methodist church with more than 200 guests attending. Jean Holt and Sadie Campi acted as ushers ad Mrs. M. Turner, of Anaheim, and Mrs. Rodney Collins assisted in serving light refreshments after the program.

Dramatic art students giving numbers were Dorothy Collins who recited the poem "Nursery Tales from Holland;" Sadie Campi presenting the musical reading "The Green Eyed Dragon," with Mrs. Kuenzli at the piano; Alma Gene Schroff the poems "A Discouraged Kindergartner" and "Conscious Ignorance" Winifred Chaffee told the story "Epaminondas and His Auntie;" Dorothy Schneider offered a mono-drama "In the Flower Shop;" Geraldine Yoder Crow gave the musical reading "A Critical Review of an Informal Piano Recital" and Sadie Campi the mono-drama "Mrs. Rastus Johnson at the Wedding."

Presented in piano solos were Geraldine Yoder Crow, Dorothy Collins, Leo Schroff, Leonard Schneider, Harvey Bryan, Tommie Turner, Dorothy Schneider, Lamar Johnston, Florence Collman, Kenneth Holt, Jean Holt, and Alma Gene Schroff.

Receiving highest honor when awards were made at the close of the program was Florence Collman. Listed on the scale honor roll were Dorothy Schneider and Winifred Chaffee; the piano honor roll members were Florence Collman, Dorothy Schneider, Alma Gene Schroff, Dorothy Collins and Tommie Turner; and the dramatic art honor roll included Alma Gene Schroff and Dorothy Collins.

WHARTON WINS TALK EVENT

LAGUNA BEACH. — J. Frank Wharton, in relating the interesting details of the deepest oil well in the world, won for himself the title of best speaker of the evening at the meeting of the Toastmasters club this week.

Other talks were given at the meeting at the Del Camino hotel on diversified topics. Maurice Van Dyke spoke on dry ice; Joe Frenette, president, told what not to do in making a will; Sam Durand spoke on "Patients." Walter Lamb acted as general toastmaster, with Perry McCullough as critic.

McCullough also inducted Carl Benson, a new member, into the club.

Orange Pastor Will Continue Outdoor Rites

ORANGE.—The Rev. L. A. Johnson, pastor at large, will continue to preach on Saturday nights to those who congregate on the southeast corner of the Plaza. At least for the next three months the preacher will be heard, it was decided by city council members when a renewal of his license was granted for that time.

A request made by the preacher for a different corner, the one at Orange and Chapman, was refused by the council, when it was pointed out that the Plaza location offers more room.

When Mayor A. C. Boice asked him if he thought he had done the people of the city any good, the Rev. Mr. Johnson said, "Well, I didn't do them any harm."

Birthday Party At Todd Home

GARDEN GROVE.—Invited to the home of Mrs. Christine Todd with other of her associates in the Woman's Relief corps, for a recent evening party Mrs. Betty Baldwin was pleasantly surprised to find the affair had been planned to celebrate her birthday anniversary. All joined in a hunt for the gifts for Mrs. Baldwin which had been cleverly hidden by the hostess. Hollywood bridge was played and score prizes awarded Mrs. Hilda Marr and Miss Kathryn Claes. Miss Jacqueline Todd assisted her mother in serving a two course supper which included a large birthday cake.

Others present were Misses Helen Claes, Jennie Clark, Mesdames Nellie Dunsdon, Esther Gilbreath, Jennie Lewis, Lillian Livett, Clara Olsen, Mary Clark, Eleanor Rojas, Edith Sanford, Laura Romack, Beryl Harvey and Mary Zlaket.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

The Massachusetts state legislature on March 22 passed a memorial urging the passage of H. R. 4199. It was addressed to the President and the congress of the United States and was the result of a unanimous vote of both the senate and the house of the Massachusetts legislature.

The growth and strength of the Townsend organization in Massachusetts was indicated by this unanimous action in favor of the memorial. When a conservative state like Massachusetts falls in line for the Townsend plan and through its legislative bodies memorializes the congress of the United States in its favor, that's something to give the Townsendites on the Pacific coast encouragement.

The writer is in receipt of a very interesting description of a P.-T. A. sponsored play "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," which will be presented in the Franklin school at 1512 West Fourth street at 7:30 tomorrow night. Santa Ana club No. 11 has engaged the group. The writer contacted E. G. Warner, publicity chairman of club No. 11 and also Mrs. Dewitt Dudley, principal of the school and learned that the cast is made up of children of the Franklin school from the third to the sixth grades and that Miss June Arnold, Fifth grade teacher directs the play. The Elwood Bear studios will furnish a group of special musical numbers during the evening program. The admission fees received will be equally divided between club No. 11 and the P.-T. A.

A letter from A. D. Marshall, Huntington Beach club No. 1 president, says that his club will meet in his home at 415 Sixth street at 7:30 this evening. There are other things in the letter which will appear in this column at a later date.

Mrs. F. B. Parks of the Buena Park club No. 1 writes a very interesting letter concerning last week's meeting when Mrs. Lillian Rockwell's cast put on the play "The Pepperdine Family from Grasshopper Runn" in the local Woman's clubhouse located at Eleventh and Grand streets. She gives a fine description of the production as presented which space will not allow of using in this column tonight. This club meets at 7:30 tonight in the club building for a business meeting.

Peter Benthein telephoned that Santa Ana club No. 7 will meet at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening in the Roosevelt school on East First street for a business meeting. The writer was speaker for this group two weeks ago and found the club alive with Townsend enthusiasm.

Thomas Carpenter will preside over the Los Alamitos club No. 1 meeting being held at 7:30 tonight in the Townsend community hall over Robb's grocery on Los Alamitos blvd. Walter R. Robb of Santa Ana will be the speaker.

Don't forget the rummage sale which is being held in the Costa Mesa Townsend hall today and tomorrow. The affair is being put on by the Costa Mesa Townsend ladies' auixiliary. Patronize the ladies and help the Townsend cause. The house committee of the Costa Mesa Townsend hall will hold a dance Saturday evening of this week. The location is 2204 Newport blvd. The public is invited.

Santa Ana club No. 8 is sponsoring a mass meeting next Saturday night in Santa Ana Townsend hall at 509 West Fourth street. Judge George Deloss Higgins of Los Angeles will be the speaker.

MRS. ROSSELOT FUNERAL RITES

FULLERTON. — Funeral services for Mrs. Nancy C. Rosselot who has resided in Garden Grove for 17 years will be held from the Flanagan and Rosselot funeral chapel at 2 p. m. Thursday. She was wife of Rev. F. P. Rosselot, funeral chapel director, officiating.

Mrs. Rosselot died at the St. Joseph's hospital Tuesday. She was a native of Pennsylvania, and the body will be returned there for interment.

The Rev. Perry F. Schrock of Santa Ana will be in charge of services.

Laguna Players Slate Program

LAGUNA BEACH.—A program is on schedule this week-end at the Laguna Community Playhouse when the Community Players present four one-act plays varying from melodrama to hilarious comedy.

Prominent Laguna authors have written three of the four plays. "Fate Holds a Candle" was written by Frank Seward, who has been directing the club for some time. "Romance Begins Anywhere" was written by Jean Marly, wife of Jack Welch and author of "Tempest in a Teapot." "Trouble in Tahiti" was written by Jonathan and Eve Lucas.

Dedication Is Set For Civic Building

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Women's club members will be in charge of the reception at the opening of the new recreation building which will be dedicated April 9.

Those who will act on the reception committee are: Mrs. Walter Dabney, Mrs. W. H. Jones, Dr. Bernice Bennett, Mrs. D. E. Burry, Mrs. William Curnutt, Mrs. Owen Mosier, Mrs. Fred Brooks, Miss Sarah Whitfield, Mrs. Arthur Willson, Mrs. Beryl Harper.

The club has donated $10 towards prizes for the various events in the field day to begin at 9 a. m.

OFFICERS SET BY AUXILIARY

FULLERTON. — Mrs. Hyram Curray of Santa Ana was elected president of the Women's auxiliary of the Orange County Medical association at the April meeting, held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Claude Steen on East Orangethorpe avenue, Fullerton. Mrs. G. Wendell Olson of Fullerton is the retiring president.

Mrs. Edwin Kersten, Anaheim, was chosen vice president; Mrs. Jack Price, Santa Ana, secretary, and Mrs. E. J. Steen, Fullerton, treasurer.

Mrs. Steen was assisted in her duties as hostess by Mrs. E. J. Sten, Mrs. C. F. W. Kohlenberger, and Mrs. Harold Gobar of Fulerton; by Mrs. R. C. Cochran of Yorba Linda and Mrs. Glenn Curtis of Brea. These hosteses, with Mrs. Charles Petty of Fulerton and Mrs. Curey of Santa Ana pouring, served punch and salad at the social hour. The table where they served was decorated with ranunculus and white candles.

Mrs. Olson presided at the business meeting, where arrangements were made for the annual meeting at the Pacific Coast club in Long Beach in May. Delegates were elected for the state convention in Pasadena May 9 to 13. To represent Orange county will be Mrs. Olson, Mrs. Curtis, Mrs. Currey, and Mrs. Arthur Robbins of Garden Grove, delegates; and Mrs. John Ball, Mrs. Kenneth H. Sutherland, Santa Ana; Mrs. Arthur Nies, Orange, and Mrs. Llewellyn Wilson, Anaheim, as alternates.

A short memorial service was held for Dr. James Boyd, a pioneer physician of the county who was buried Tuesday.

Sea Air Soothes Beach Campaign For Offices

LAGUNA BEACH. — Laguna Beach is expected a very quiet election April 12 with candidates having no major differences in their platforms. Ten candidates are now in the field including the incumbents, Mayor L. F. Mallow, H. G. Heisler and Thomas Cummings. F. J. Benneson, W. J. English, H. K. Peabody, A. M. Russell, E. F. Tawney, Helen Carter Tiffany and Emil F. Wickman also are seeking election.

The new council will have a number of problems to take up after the election. Problems of street paving and alley grading, city zoning, recreation, beach clean-up, police radio, lifeguards and enlarging the library.

Most of the candidates agree against letting Laguna turn "honky-tonk."

Alumni to Stage Annual Banquet

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Acting as master of ceremonies at the annual banquet staged by the Alumni association, May 27, will be George Farquhar, graduate of the class of '32.

Miss Jean Tarbox, president of the Girls league, sent out the invitations. The guests will also be invited to the annual May Queen dance to be staged at th ehigh school by the Girls league and Hi-Y club. Reservations are being taken care of by Mrs. Willia Warner, secretary of the Alumni association and Mrs. Julia Payne of the high school office.

Job's Daughters To State Program

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Various organizations of this city will put on competitive stunts at the Job's Daughters amateur night, May 13.

Money earned from the performance will be contributed to the funds to purchase ritual robes for the Job's Daughters.

ORANGE 'Y' WORK SLATED

ORANGE.—The old Y. M. C. A. building in Orange will undergo a complete remodeling if the necessary funds can be raised, it was decided at a noon meeting of the Y. M. C. A. board Wednesday.

Authorization for the work was given to start when 90 per cent of the money asked, $8000, is in the hands of the board. The committee to formulate plans for raising the amount has not yet been named by Board President J. T. McInnis.

The work is planned to accomplish the following: stucco the entire building, increase the size of the gymnasium floor; add five extra rooms including a handball room, game room, two clubrooms and a committee room; increase bleacher space, add locker space and extra shower rooms. An enclosed archery range, and the refinishing of the entire inside of the building also will be included in the program.

A new style roof, kitchen and dining room, an entryway into showers under the bleachers instead of from the gym floor are to be added features of the remodeling.

KELLER NAMED LEGION HEAD

MIDWAY CITY.—Robert Keller was elected commander of the new American Legion post of Midway City Monday evening when Legionnaires met for the first time since receiving their charter.

Other officers named were Gene Mixer, adjutant; Harold Spafford, first vice commander; Emmett Holly, second vice commander; Harry Hall, sergeant-at-arms; Dale Braybrooks, historian, and Hugh Marshall, chaplain.

Plans were completed for the next meeting when special charter presentation ceremonies will feature the first official meeting of the new post, which will be held Monday evening, April 11, in the Woman's clubhouse. All ex-service men and their wives are invited to be present.

Three Babies Born To Brea Families

BREA.—Three babies have been born since April 1 in Brea families. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tryon are parents of a baby daughter, named Judy Gay, weighing 7½ pounds, born April 2 at the Brea Maternity home.

A daughter, named Janice Darlene, weighing nearly eight pounds, was born April 3 to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Promoto, at the Fullerton General hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Reis, of 107 Orange avenue, Brea, are parents of a son, Deane Arden, weighing eight pounds, four ounces, and born April 5 at the Brea Maternity hospital.

San Juan School Play Planned

SAN JUAN CAPISTRANO.—The student body of San Juan Capistrano union high school is busily engaged in rehearsals for the operetta "Shooting Stars," which will be presented on the evening of April 29 in the school auditorium under the direction of Miss Loretta Bond.

Parent-Teachers Lauded as Great U. S. Institution

COSTA MESA.—Lauding the National Congress of Parents and Teachers as being second only to the public school system of America and as the greatest demonstration of democracy left in the world today, Mrs. Charles E. Roe, national field secretary of the Parent-Teacher association, told Costa Mesa P.-T. A. members, Tuesday, that California is showing the nation how to conduct Parent-Teacher work.

In pointing out the wonderful membership gain which has been accomplished in the state in the past few years, Mrs. Roe stated that the present California P.-T. A. membership was greater than that of the entire nation in 1924.

The speaker, who has been on the national P.-T. A. staff for the past 14 years, has given service in every state in the Union. On her present speaking tour through California she is scheduled to appear in eleven different cities throughout the state, but will make only the one Costa Mesa appearance, in the fourth district.

Installation of newly elected officers was made by Mrs. Wickersheim, outgoing president of the Orange council. Those being seated were Mrs. Henry Abrams, who succeeds Mrs. Lee Trine as president; Mrs. George Healey, first vice president; Mrs. William Currie, second vice president; Mrs. A. L. Pinkley, secretary, and Mrs. Gunning Butler, treasurer.

A violin solo was given by Miss Muriel Hatch and a vocal solo, "My Task," by Henry Abrams. Halstead McCormac accompanied both numbers.

Reports were received from Mrs. Arthur Worden, treasurer; Mrs. E. A. Rea, auditor, and Mrs. Trine, president.

Other prominent P.-T. A. officials present were Mrs. Harry C. Drown, president of the Fourth District P.-T. A.; Mrs. W. M. Kelsey, district auditor; Mrs. R. W. Marvin, state chairman of radio education, and past district president; Mrs. R. P. Krupp, state chairman of physical hygiene and district first vice president, and Mrs. Robert Korff, incoming district president.

Following the meeting tea was served under the auspices of Mrs. Homer Humphries, hospitality chairman.

H. B. Women In Golf Tourney

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Members of the Huntington Beach Women's Golf club played a white elephant tournament on the local course Wednesday. Later they were guests at the home of Mrs. M. G. Jones for luncheon.

Mrs. John Africa was presented with a trophy won at an earlier tournament. Bridge was played.

Guests were Mesdames A. W. Frost, president; Harry Bakre, L. W. Robbins, Arthur Wilson, Robert Marshall, Harry Overmyer, Edna Keller, Arthur Anderson, Vydah McCallen Riley, Harry Sheue, D. O. Todd, H. W. Hartley and John Africa.

Bridge at Calle De Las Bolas

SAN CLEMENTE.—Mrs. Eloise Monroe of Calle de las Bolas entertained at bridge on Monday afternoon. Those present were Mrs. Charlotte Saxe, Mrs. Mary O. Smith, Mrs. Dorothy Barron and the hostess. High score was won by Mrs. Smith. A dessert luncheon was served by the hostess before the playing began.

FASHION EVENT PLANNED BY WOMAN'S CLUB

MIDWAY CITY.—Members of the Midway City Woman's club will sponsor a spring fashion show and dessert bridge at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon in the clubhouse. The latest styles will be shown by Scoullers of Santa Ana with local club women acting as models. Children's clothes will also be displayed on living models under the direction of Mrs. Rose Walker of the Betty Rose Shop.

Mrs. J. A. Houlihan is chairman of the committee in charge of the event and will be assisted by Mrs. Joe Esser, Mrs. Bert Heath, Mrs. Nels Nelson, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. Ed Von Rohr, Mrs. Merrill James, Mrs. William Fraser, Mrs. Leona Kelly, Mrs. T. R. Canady, and Mrs. Faye Wright.

Special music has been obtained for the afternoon and the program has been arranged so that those not caring to play bridge may avail themselves of the fashion show, music and refreshments.

Toastmasters Meet At San Clemente

SAN CLEMENTE.—The Toastmaster's club met on Monday evening with Charles Craft presiding and Dr. George O. Jones acting as diction critic and Ezra Hollister as general critic. The following talks were delivered by members assigned for the evening: W. C. Draddy, "War Does Not Pay"; E. A. Lauderbach, "Know Thyself"; M. E. Walters, "Napoleon and the American Indian"; Edward Goepper, "Tax on the Black Gold," and Scott E. Saxe, "New York to San Francisco With Uncle Sam." Carl Hankey, Paul H. Demaree, T. M. Billips, Glenn Moody and John S. Malcolm were the critics of the evening. It was decided after some discussion that the name of the club will be the Dana Toastmaster's club.

Beach Pavilion Space Is Rented

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—A new lessee, a Long Beach concern headed by Doc Crow and associates, will take over the entire top floor of the Huntington Beach company pavilion, located on the ocean front at the pier. Former tenants have been ordered to vacate the premises by May 1.

Alterations are being planned in order to make the building into a cafe and restaurant. The lease will begin May 1 and will last five years.

Wing Installed Orange Elk Head

ORANGE.—Burhl Wing was installed exalted ruler of the local Elks lodge Wednesday night by Past Exalted Ruler Leo Friis of Anaheim.

Other officers seated were W. H. Hirstein, leading knight; Earl Hobbs, loyal knight; F. M. Candless, lecturing knight; Earl Smith, secretary; C. W. Coffey, treasurer; O. E. Linnartz, trustee, and William Barnes, tyler. Appointive offices will be announced later by Wing.

TUSTIN DANCE

TUSTIN.—The Pythian Sisters will give a dance in the K. P. hall Saturday night with Sargent's orchestra to furnish music. Cards will be played by those who do not care to dance.

Carpinteria's Relays

Equipped with one of their best track squads since 1930, it is appropriate that Santa Ana's Saints send a few of their short-pantied lads to the Russell Cup Invitational at Carpinteria April 23.

The trip to Carpinteria, between Ventura and Santa Barbara on Highway 101, will represent the longest jaunt of the Saints, and at least 10 of them are certain to be sent, according to Coach Reece (Pinky) Greene.

Showings at the Chaffey Invitational in Ontario Saturday may swell the Santa Ana entry list up north.

There will be medals galore—small gold shoes will go to the high-point winners in each class; first-place winners in all classes will be awarded gold track shoes, and all other place winners will receive medals; the "Frank Wykoff" sprint trophy will be awarded the boy running the fastest 100-yard dash, either in trials or finals; miniature gold shoes will be awarded members of the winning teams in the relays; and Russell Cups will go to the schools winning their respective divisions.

Great Sports Editor

The death of Ed Sullivan, noted crime writer, in Hollywood the other day marked the passing of another one-time great sports editor. Sixteen years ago, about the time that Westbrook Pegler was covering sports for the United Press leased wire service, Sullivan was head of the Chicago Herald-Examiner sports department. His column "What Say?" differed from those of today because of its briefness, terseness and straight-to-the-point criticism.

Sullivan left the Chicago paper and went to Boston where he launched his career of crime writing. Shortly after the slaying of Jake Lingle, the Chicago newspaper reporter, Sullivan wrote his now famous book, "Rattling the Cup on Chicago Crime," a story purported to expose the inner workings of the windy city gangland.

Bottom of the Barrel

Barracuda fishing in the Long Beach district got off to an auspicious start this week. Seven anglers aboard the live-bait boat Music, only one out for the day, returned with a catch of 427 barracuda, averaging from three to five and a half pounds . . . Surf-fishermen already are preparing to invade the Newport-Balboa area . . . The beach season soon will be in full swing. The warm sunshine already has tempted many swimmers to fight the breakers, and boats are being repainted and otherwise prepared for a banner year.

SMITH TESTS REGULARS AND ROOKIES

Winkler vs. Morse; Game Will Be Free

By PAUL WRIGHT

There will be a "preview" at the Municipal bowl tonight. And—

Like "previews" at the theater, this one probably will need considerable altering after Manager "Doc" Smith gets a first glimpse at his Santa Ana Stars in action against Manager Darwin Scott's all-star Elks at 8 o'clock.

There will be no admission charge, and every nightball fan is invited to inspect the new rookies as well as the returning regulars who will perform for the Stars in the enlarged National Nightball league of eight teams beginning May 10.

EIKS POWERFUL

The all-star Elks must not be confused with the team that will represent the B. P. O. E. lodge in the Santa Ana City league. This "senior" team is comprised of the best softball talent the Elks can muster, and includes an ace battery of Lyle Morse, sensational righthander of Anaheim's National league champions, and Dave Styring, veteran City league catcher. Styring may be replaced by LeRoy Levens at backstop tonight, as he is slated to enter the hospital for a minor operation. If Styring reports, Levens will hold down third base. Liston (Memphy) Hill, new coach of the Huntington Beach Oilers, will play shortstop, with the hard-hitting Floyd Montgomery in left field, Bruce Harnois in rightfield, Leo Morse on second, Fred Cartwright on first, Ray Short in centerfield. Armand (Lefty) Hanson will relieve Morse on the mound.

USES THREE PITCHERS

Skipper Smith of the Stars will test three new pitchers—Everett Winkler, Tustin basketball and softball star; Roy Stout, ace City leaguer; and Chet Coates, Garden Grove High star and brother of Jim Coates. Bob Schwarm will lead off, starting in centerfield. Tom Lacy will be at short, Merle Hapes on second, Nan Coots in left field, Bob Mott on first, Tom Young on third, Bomo Koral back of the plate, Bud Baker in rightfield, and Winkler on the mound to start.

COAST NINES DEADLOCKED

There were whisperings today in the San Diego Padre dressing rooms of a plot to steal the eye glasses of Pitcher Jack Salveson of the Los Angeles team in the Pacific Coast league.

Salveson, who wears cheaters while he works, was tough on the Padres more ways than one yesterday. He pitched a fair brand of ball as the Angels defeated the Padres, 7 to 3, and accounted for three of his team's runs with a homer with one on base and a single.

With six teams tied for first place, Oakland's Acorns are still trying to break into the league. They lost a 2 to 1 heart-breaker to Seattle last night. It was their fifth loss in five starts.

Paced by Outfielder Harry Rosenberg's two triples and a single in four trips to the plate, Portland handed the Sacramento club a 7 to 2 shellacking. Hollywood made it two in a row over the San Francisco Seals, winning a wild slugfest, 10 to 7.

With the score tied in the seventh inning, Salveson lifted one of Dick Ward's offerings out of the park to score Third Baseman Charley English ahead of him and putt the game on ice for the Angels.

SWING AROUND BALL CAMPS LEAVES SCRIBE MYSTIFIED

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK. (AP)—A man has to make a swing around the spring training camps to get the inside dope on what's going on in baseball. Unless you get the managers and players off to themselves for long heart-to-heart talks you can never hope to be initiated into the inner circles.

Take, for instance, the hot afternoon a fortnight ago in St. Petersburg, when Paul (Daffy) Dean tipped this scout exclusively that his arm was as right as rain and that he was set for the gaudiest comeback ever. It was electrifying news at that time, and still is, because three days later the bludgeoning Boston Bees scored nine runs off Daffy in a single inning, and he's back in the minor now.

Again, there was the memorable interview in New Orleans when Manager Oscar Vitt revealed that he had accomplished a complete reformation of his new catcher, Rollie Hemsley. The writer managed to get clear to Baton Rouge, 86 miles away, before Hemsley wrapped a dresser drawer around a photographer's head.

Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis supplied another tidbit on the fourth tee at Belleaire, Fla., when he shook his head violently and said he knew absolutely nothing about any investigation of the Cardinals' farm system. He gave the details a week later in about 9000 words.

Lefty Grove Tells All In Talk With Graham

By DILLON GRAHAM

SARASOTA, Fla., (AP)—Robert Moses Grove, the loquacious conversationalist of Lonaconing, Md., was cornered for a balls-and-strikes interview while standing knee deep in a country creek near Sarasota.

The Boston southpaw hurler had snuck away from an afternoon drill of the Red Sox and was casting his reel in search of bass in a pretty little fishing hole away out in the backwoods.

"Lefty, if memory doesn't betray me, you're about the oldest pitcher in the American league, you and Earl Whitehill and Ted Lyons?"

"Yep, that's right."

"It's 38, isn't it?"

"Yep."

"As I recall it you topped both of those other old men. How many games did you win?"

"Seventeen."

"Well, you're getting ready to start your 19th season in baseball. How does the old flipper feel?"

"Great."

"The boys tell me you've got more pep and ginger than you've shown in years."

"Yep."

"How many games do you figure you'll win this year?"

"Wouldn't know."

"Boston has a number of rookie pitchers in camp. Do any of them look good to you?"

"Some."

"Do you think Vosmik will strengthen the Red Sox?"

"Yep."

"Jimmy Foxx looks like he's in the pink."

"Surely does."

It's harder to extract an interview from Lefty than it is to get a base hit off him. He's the strong silent type, friendly but not given to wordiness.

There are silver streaks in Lefty's hair now. He isn't as fast as he used to be but he still has good stuff on the ball and a cunning brain a-working on the mound.

The Red Sox expect to go places this season and they're counting on Grove pushing back the Old Man with the Scythe for another year or two, anyway.

NEW RULES IN BASKETBALL

CHICAGO. (AP)—Five changes—two of them designed to give players of the streamlined game more rest—were written into the basketball rule book today.

The changes, adopted by the rules committee of the National Association of Basketball Coaches, were:

1. Increase the number of time outs in the collegiate game to five from four.
2. Optional use of four 10-minute quarters instead of the customary 20-minute halves, with two-minute rests between first and second and between third and fourth periods.
3. Exemption of the outer half of the four circle from provisions of the "three second" half rule so that a player not in possession of the ball may stay in that territory more than three seconds without penalty.
4. Prohibition of substitutions immediately after a goal and before the ball is tossed into play from the end zone, unless a team has called time out.
5. Permission for optional extension of the end margin of the court from two feet to four feet from the face of the backboards.

No extra time outs were provided for high school games.

Stagehand and Six Companions Reach Louisville Monday

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Stage-$100,000 handicap and $50,000 derby, entrains tomorrow for Churchill Downs to condition for the Kentucky derby May 7.

Departure of the Maxwell Howard stable was moved up a day so Stagehand and six companions would arrive at Louisville Monday morning, by way of the Grand canyon, Kansas City and St. Louis.

Racing Curtailed At Agua Caliente

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico. (AP) Because of "conditions now existing over which the track has no control" there will be racing at the Agua Caliente horse racing track on Saturdays and Sunday only beginning this week, Gene Normile, president of the Turf club, announced today. The track has been operating on Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Dolph Camilli In Batting Slump

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP)—Brooklyn officials, with time to reflect as the Dodgers took a day off before breaking camp tomorrow, were wondering when Dolph Camilli would begin living up to his reported purchase price of $75,000. The former Philly first baseman has an average of .116, on five hits in 43 times at bat.

BEAR NINE WINS

BERKELEY (AP)—California's baseball Bears put over a triple play and a triple steal yesterday as they trimmed the U. C. L. A. Bruins for the third time this season, 4 to 2.

WARD SIGNS 9 PLAYERS

Co-Managers Gene Hitt and Walt Jordan announced today they had signed nine players, including themselves, for Montgomery Ward's bid for the 1938 softball championship in the Santa Ana City league.

Three other star players—Maurice Young, Ben Byland and Jim Wendorf—will join the department store nine immediately following Santa Ana High school's baseball schedule in the Citrus Belt league.

R. E. Wilkerson, who has been out here a short time from Tennessee, was given a trial at third base, and probably will be employed in the infield until the dependable-hitting Young reports. Another newcomer was Lynn Arnett, Anaheim boy who passes a football 70 to 75 yards in the air for Santa Ana's Dons in the fall. Arnett, an infielder, may be shifted to the outfield, Hitt said.

Others signed, in addition to Jordan, pitcher, and Hitt, pitcher and first baseman, are Warren (Whitey) Mann, Roy Warrecker, Charley Newsom, Rod Smiley and Harvey Hemphill.

Ward's is seeking an initial practice game for the Municipal bowl Monday. The club held its first drill at the Sixth and Flower street stadium last night.

BEAR COACHES ARE REHIRED

BERKELY. (AP)—The University of California evinced full confidence in its sports coaching staff today, renewing for three years the contracts of Ky Ebright, crew; Brutus Hamilton, track, and "Nibs" price, basketball. The contracts will run until 1941. "Stub" Allison, grid mentor, was given a new three-year contract last summer a year before his present contract expired. No salary changes were announced.

BEES WIN WITH DAN M'FAYDEN

ORLANDO. (AP) — Encouraged by Deacon Danny MacFayden's seven-hit, nine-inning job against the Senators yesterday, the Boston Bees sent Big Jim Turner right back at Washington today in an effort to keep the club's exhibition game average above the .500 mark. Wes Ferrell was to oppose last season's 20-game winner.

WAR ADMIRAL MAY RACE SEABISCUIT

Match Run Looms For Belmont Oval

NEW YORK. (AP)—It did not look or feel much like racing weather today when War Admiral awakened and peered out over the track where he will be prepped for a campaign that is expected to lead to a match race with Seabiscuit.

Belmont Park, where the Admiral and 23 stablemates arrived in a blizzard last night, was covered with several inches of snow. The weather was near freezing.

HOWARD ANXIOUS

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Charles S. Howard is anxious to prove his great race horse, Seabiscuit, can beat War Admiral, and he looked with eagerness today toward the proposed meeting of the two American turf rivals.

Snow was falling heavily when the Admiral was led from the van after a 250-mile, 11-hour trip from Samuel Riddle's farm at Berlin, Md. But like a true champion, the little brown son of Man-o'-War took the unseasonable weather in stride.

Dykes May Play Third for Sox

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP)—It's hard to discourage White Sox Manager Jimmy Dykes from playing baseball. Now that Shortstop Luke Appling is on the hospital list, possibly until June, Chicago's pilot is toying with the idea of holding down second or third base himself.

Bridges Returns To Mound for Detroit

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP)—Tommy Bridges, Detroit right-hander, gets a chance today to see if a chipped elbow bone interfers with his pitching. He's slated to start against the Toronto Maple Leafs of the International league, his first service since he hurt his arm, nearly two weeks ago.

TED CHRISTY WILL BE ON SPOT TONIGHT

Highway 101 Offers Novelty First Time

With eight wrestlers in the ring at the same time and struggling for a title match with Dude Chick, the going is expected to be rough tonight at the Orange County Athletic club when Promoter Bud Levin presents a "battle royal" for the first time on Pacific coast mats.

Winners of the "battle royal" will reappear in the main event of the four-bout card that follows the special attraction. The winner of the main event will be signed for a title match with Chick.

In spite of the fact that all eight of the matmen are rated among the top-notchers of Southern California, principal interest of Orange county fans will be centered on Ted Christy, wrestling's "bad boy" of Sunland, Cal., and "Tarzan" Bob Montgomery of Little Rock, Ark.

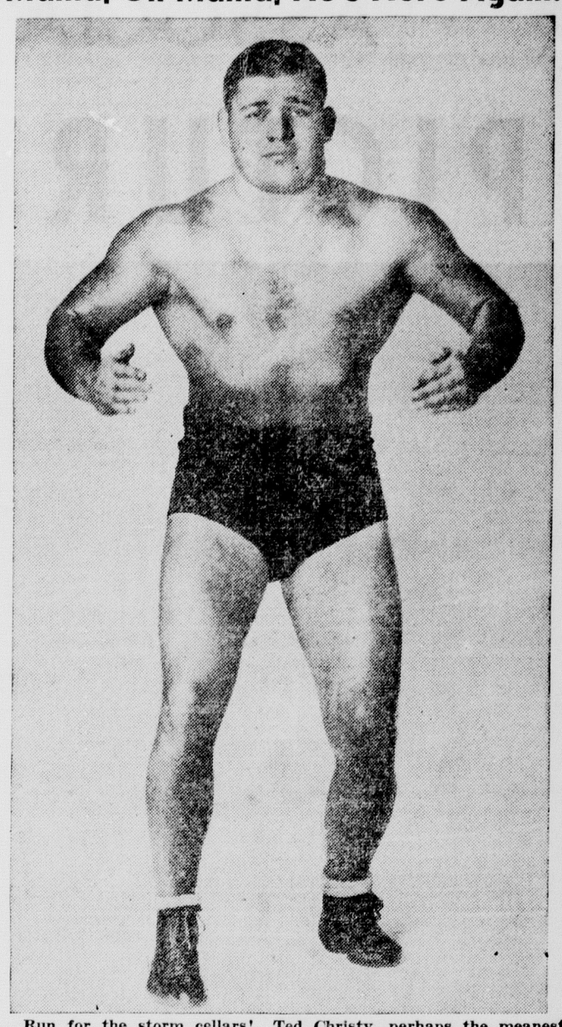

Christy has accused Montgomery of refusing to wrestle him. On the other hand, Montgomery claims that he will wrestle Christy at any time he proves he is a worthy opponent by defeating two or three men who already have lost matches to Montgomery. Wednesday the Arkansas grappler protested Christy's entry in the "battle royal" on the grounds that even if he won Christy still would not be entitled to a championship match.

Others who will wrestle in the "battle royal" and qualify for spots on the regular card are Jimmie Lott, Birmingham, Ala; Ken Hollis, Abilene, Texas; Leo Newman, Montreal, Can.; Fritz Hansen, Minneapolis, Minn.; Pat "Popeye" O'Brien, Hollywood, and Cecil McGill, Long Beach.

PIRATES, WHITE SOX COLLIDE

SWEETWATER, Tex. (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, who start an eight-game series today with the Chicago White Sox, are looking to the season's first pay day with mixed emotions. Manager Pie Traynor has announced he will wait until then to announce which players are to be fined for roughhousing on Pullmans which was the cause, among other things, of Pitcher Russ Bauers' knee injury.

Mama, Oh Mama, He's Here Again!

Run for the storm cellars! Ted Christy, perhaps the meanest junior-heavyweight ever to slip on a pair of tights, appears as one of the featured performers of the Highway 101 arena's "battle royal" tonight. Eight wrestlers will be seen in the ring at the same time during the novel event.

'FRIENDSHIP', 'RELATIVES' MEAN JOBS FOR THAT YOUNGSTER

I Just Found Out

About Candy Making

—By— MILLARD BROWNE

Fudge, like mother used to make, meant there was a pan for Junior to lick. But fudge, like it's made in Santa Ana's only specialized candy factory, would leave $7500 worth of equipment for Junior to clean up.

* * *

It's not that the candy plant is such a huge industry, but it takes a lot of sturdy, efficient pots, pans and cooling slabs to work with such treacherous stuff as sugar and chocolate, where a few extra minutes or too many degrees might turn creamy fondant into a half-caramel.

* * *

Commercial candy-making is a peculiar combination of big-time manufacturing and home-cooking, and each step of the process takes a specialized artist. Mildred Decker, proprietor of Candyland for the past 15 years, confesses she can't dip chocolates, but points out there's no one else in her establishment who's mastered the rhythm of dropping the right-sized mints onto a cooling block.

* * *

Highest and most fascinating art in the candy business is chocolate dipping. Only local dipper is Mrs. Iva Stephenson, who averages 100 pounds. She got her start at the Miss Saylor factory in Seattle.

* * *

In dipping, each kind of coating acts differently, and the dippers have to know by the feel of a batch of gooey chocolate when it's ready to work. It must be between 60 and 65 degrees, else it would be streaky.

* * *

Technique of dipping is to mix the chocolate with one hand, feed a creamy center in with the other, swish it around in the chocolate, pick it up with two fingers and a thumb, set it down and put on the finishing swirl by a string of chocolate dripping from the thumb.

* * *

Candy business doesn't merely consist of a showcase full of chocolates. Mrs. Decker must display 80 varieties of candy, including 20 kinds of chocolates. Though she operates the factory part of the shop every day, she rarely mixes more than five or six different varieties in the same day.

* * *

Most hectic time, naturally, is the Christmas holidays, always the biggest candy-eating season, when the local factory must supply an assortment from ribbons and canes to peanut clusters. Ribbons require more "workmanship" than any other variety, while brittle is quickest and easiest to make. Any holiday is good candy-time, though, particularly Mother's Day and Easter.

* * *

Father's Day, by rights, should be a better candy occasion. Because the men buy—and eat—more candy than women. Chocolates represent about 50 per cent of their candy diet. Many of them have the habit of stopping in for a 10-cent bag after lunch each day. Youngsters don't eat much locally-made candy, probably because the volume doesn't compete with that elsewhere.

* * *

There's a recession in youthful gallantry, too, Mrs. Decker has noticed, because young lovers rarely send candy to their feminine friends nowadays.

* * *

Candy-makers are constantly bothered by women who want their recipe for a certain delicacy. Usual questions are how many cups of sugar, how many spoonfuls of chocolate go into a certain candy.

* * *

Majority of candy is cooked about two hours at a 245-degree temperature, though certain kinds (fruit and hard candies) are boiled at 320 degrees. Cooling is the slowest process in candy manufacture, though a three-inch marble slab (which costs around $1500, by the way) helps speed it up.

* * *

Universal equipment among candy-makers is a copper kettle. The reason: It wears indefinitely, and burnt sugar doesn't stick to it.

Santa Ana and All Southland to Face Bombing Squadron

Santa Ana will come within the territory to be "defended" from army attack and bombing squadrons from March and Hamilton fields when they try to blast through Southern California's anti-aircraft defenses some time next Tuesday and Friday.

Six hundred officers and men of the 63rd coast artillery will man anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, and aircraft sound detectors at March field, seeking to repel the air invaders.

The problem for the "defense" will be the protection of eighty thousand square miles of territory—extending from the Mexican border north to the Mojave desert, from Nevada and Arizona on the west to the Pacific ocean.

The "attack" will be under direction of Brig. Gen. Delos C. Emmons, air force commander at Col. Claude M. Thiele, Fort MacArthur commandant.

Easter Vacation Swimming Classes

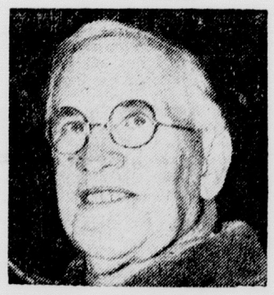

Scores of youngsters will learn to swim during Easter vacation if the present demand for reservations in classes at the YMCA continues, officials of the organization said today.

The week will open Monday morning with classes at 9 o'clock for boys, followed by one for girls at 9:30.

SANTA ANA GETS SLAP ON BACK BY BIG 'MAG'

Santa Ana and its part in making it possible for water to be brought from the Colorado river to it and twelve other Southern California cities, is told in the current issue of the Saturday Evening Post under the heading, "California Here It Comes."

Describing a drink of water to be obtained by a "Mrs. Smith" of Santa Ana, in 1939, the editors of the Post state:

"And when Mrs. Smith, refreshed, goes back ot her vacuum cleaner, she will have participated in one of the most grandiese nose-thumbings man has ever directed at nature. For thirteen cities comprising The Metropolitan Water district of Southern California, once a semi-desert, will have been saved from becoming dry country again."

Natural color pictures of aqueduct features in desert regions were taken by Ivan Dmitri, nationally known color photographer. Included in the group are views of Parker Dam and other features of the Metropolitan aqueduct.

Now in its sixth year of construction, the Metropolitan aqueduct crosses the entire state of California and will carry a billion gallons of water daily from the Colorado river to the coastal plain of Southern California.

KIWANIS HEARS AIRLINE FACTS

Workings of a modern airline in its transcontinental flights were described in a talk to Santa Ana Kiwanians by Fred Pullen, district traveling agent for the American Airlines, at yesterday's luncheon in Masonic temple.

Pullen discussed several new "wrinkles" in commercial aviation, referring particularly to mechanical exhibits at last week's aeronautical and boat show in Los Angeles, including an automatic pilot to make flying smoother and safer and perfection of beam flying.

Pullen was introduced by Dr. Mark Lindsey, program chairman, who arranged the program through Louis Hanson, World Travel Bureau agent. President Maurice Enderle conducted the meeting.

SCHOOL LIGHTS URGED MARKED

For the protection of all electric light users, who are described as "in the dark about lights" all governors have been urged to propose state regulations whereby electric bulbs sold in each state shall be marked with the number of lumens or candlepower they will give. This suggestion is contained in a letter to Governor Merriam from Maxwell M. Bilofsky, lighting authority.

The letter suggests further that bulbs for school, industrial and street lighting use be marked with the number of hours they are guaranteed to burn.

Jaysee Musical Tomorrow Night

Farsical comedy plus tuneful Western melodies are intermingled in the production, "Howdy, Stranger" which will be given Friday night at 8 o'clock by Santa Ana Junior college's music department in the high school auditorium.

Mistaken identity, and hypnosis play a major part in the laugh-provoking farce. Wilbur Marsters in the role of "Elly" poses as a cowboy from Wyoming while in reality he is a Brooklyn lad. He is hired by Bruce Buell (playing a Jewish producer) to sing in New York.

Supporting roles are played by Nina June Robertson, Helen Waer, Leslie Damewood, Louis Towers, Franklin Guthrie, Onie Sanders, Todd Drake, Dolores Ortberg, Ruth Switzler, James Haarstad, Charles Sayers, Walker Davis, Harris Dalbec, Howard Clure and Ed Velarde.

Myrtle A. Martin, head of the jaysee music department, is in charge.

Federal Symphony Plans Unique Bill Of Woodwind Music

From the results of many questionnaires turned in by federal symphony audiences and the expressed opinions of many friends of the orchestra, an unique concert under federal music project auspices is planned for the night of April 20.

Through these questionnaires, distributed for the purpose of learning what the public likes best in concert entertainment, Leon Eckles, project supervisor, gleaned the fact that numbers of people are interested in becoming more be directed on the ground by Lieut. familiar with the more unusual instruments in the orchestra. In response, the director stated the March field. The "defense" will forthcoming concert would feature solos, duets and quartets performed by the flute, oboe, clarinet and bassoon.

Seldom are these instruments given individual billing, Eckles pointed out.

Four accomplished musicians supporting the woodwind section are Dale Porter, flutist; Dorothy Lutz, oboeist; Hugo Raimondi, clarinetist, and Gordon Moore, bassoonist.

The concert will be played at the Willard High school auditorium, 1342 North Ross, owing to the impossibility of securing the high school auditorium for the above date.

NEW GARDEN CLUB

Organization of a new garden club, named the "Gardenettes," this week resulted in plans for a meeting Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Dale Griggs, 421 South Flower street. There will be an interesting program on pollinization and the meaning of hybrids.

PARNASSUS' FOOTHILLS

(Where the Muse Runs Wild)

(Where Muse Runs Wild)

THE BILLS

(With all deference to the memory of a real poet—Edgar Allan Poe.)

Hear the rustling of the bills!
Bales of bills!
What a world of disgustfulness
Their very thought instills
In the silence of the night
Thoughts of bills make sleep a fright,
Banked with bills!

See the dreary druggist's bills,
Bills for pills,
Unctious unguents, pungent pap;
And squeamy squills.
How we writhe with futile pain
As we call to mind again
How we have to strive and strain
To buy our ills.

And the grasping grocer's bills!
Bulging bills!
How much placid domesticity
The gruesome grocer kills
As he amputates our wages
By such subtle easy stages
With his cash annexing, vexing
Bills, bills, bills.

And there's bills for twills and frills,
Brutal bills!
Chocolate creams and daffodils,
Bruising bills!
How my heart with anguish cries
At the number, and the size
Of that hurricane of baneful, painful
Bills(, bills, bills.

Beatrice Granas Wins Creative Art Music Honors, USC

Miss Beatrice Granas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Granas, 300 North Broadway, was one of the three winners in the musical division of the Apolliad creative art contest, staged annually at the University of Southern California.

Miss Granas, who is a student at the university school of music, submitted a musical composition which ranked among the top three winning awards. Fifteen pupils competed in this classification.

As she won a place in the contest, Miss Granas will be among select few who will be invited to attend the annual Apolliad invitational dinner May 14, when all musical compositions, literary productions, and other works of art, selected by the judges, will be presented.

Miss Granas is a second year student at the university and is a graduate of Santa Ana Junior college.

MISSIONARIES TELL OF WORK

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Eller, missionaries in India, told members of the First Baptist church yesterday how they traveled 18,900 miles by automobile in 15 countries during the period between March 22 and Sept. 10, 1936. They encountered persons speaking 52 different languages during the trip.

The Ellers crossed eight Asiatic passes and went through six deserts on their unique trip and were the first persons ever to pull a trailer through the region. Eller spoke yesterday at the Baptist church on his work in India during a luncheon given in his and his wife's honor.

JUNIOR COLLEGE ATTEND PANEL

Executive board members at Santa Ana junior college left early this afternoon to attend a panel discussion at Riverside Junior college.

COUNTY'S NYA REPORTS ON HOW IT'S DONE

Seventy Per Cent Land Work Through 'Pull'

By GEORGE COVERDALE

Young people getting jobs usually find them through friends or relatives, not by going out job-hunting, Dr. Hazel Gaudet of the research center at the University of Newark, told members of the eastern branch, American Psychological association. And her findings correspond rather closely to those of the Orange county NYA.

Dr. Gaudet conducted her check through the cooperation of the National Youth administration in a New Jersey county.

Friends are most important it was discovered. Of all those who had ever had a job, 70 per cent had learned of their last job through friends or relatives, about 10 per cent through canvassing, and 10 per cent through employment agencies.

M. E. Barnhill, county NYA director, says that only a small percentage of the 150 young men and women who left the NYA here since Jan. 1, 1936, have obtained employment through agencies. He believes youth is in greater demand in industrial communities than they are in more rural regions.

The local NYA office has not been equipped by the government with a placement bureau. In large cities throughout the United States, where such employment headquarters are maintained, however, 70,000 boys and girls were secured jobs out of 165,738 registrants, Barnhill relates.

Dr. Gaudet has decided that the number of friends is not so important as their influence, or their knowledge of jobs and ability to recommend the job hunter. A friend working in the firm where the job exists seems to be the ideal. But, actually, the unemployed were more sociable, got out more with others and belonged to more organizations than those who got jobs. They were too sociable for their own good.

Personality tests, conducted by Dr. Gaudet, of those who found jobs and those who failed showed that the former are more self-reliant, more stable, and less self-centered despite the fact that they are less sociable than are those still on work-relief.

'Pep Pills' Advised As Boredom Killer

(Science Service)

Boredom from monotonous work, as well as sleepiness is relieved by the "pep drug," benzedrine sulphate, Dr. J. E. Barmack of the College of the City of New York, and Dr. A. T. Poffenberger, of Columbia university, reported.

Boredom lowers the blood pressure more than does rest, these investigators have found. A dose of benzedrine sulphate raises it.

Impressive Ceremony Marks Council Installations

Novelty and dignity combined at the year's largest Santa Ana Parent-Teacher association meeting this week when new officers of the Council and of each unit of the P.-T. A. were installed in beautiful rites. The educational building of the First Christian church was setting for the ceremony which, performed by Mrs. H. C. Drown, fourth district president, made Mrs. James Givens new Santa Ana Council president, and thus high executive over all subsidiary presidents.

With the assistance of Mrs. J. W. Kirvin, Mrs. Drown placed a colorful belt of paper flowers upon Mrs. Givens, to represent the hub of a wheel. Then each of her officers came forward with a bar of flowers, hooking it to the wheel hub, and thus representing the spokes of the wheel. Each in turn also signified one of the character attributes of dependability, faithfulness, alertness, knowledge, development, accuracy, trustiness, truthfulness, and understanding.

Those thus installed, who will serve with Mrs. Givens, were Mrs. C. W. Hoiles, Mrs. Dean Smiley, Mrs. Dale Elliott, Mrs. Leslie Eckel, and Mrs. John J. Vernon, vice presidents; Mrs. Paul Eby and Mrs. Rufus Bond, secretaries; Mrs. Harry Becker, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Tidball, historian; and Mrs. Floyd Mitchell, outgoing president, as parliamentarian.

Following this pretty rite, each school president also came forward, bearing strands of gold and blue paper rope which were joined together, thus forming the rim of the wheel of P.-T. A.

Those thus assuming the guidance of their school parent-teacher activities were Mrs. Allison Honer of Hoover, Mrs. John James of Lincoln, Mrs. Howard Timmons of the junior college, Mrs. Jack Munson of Franklin, Mrs. Warren Mendenhall of Willard, Mrs. Albert Garthe of McKinley, Mrs. M. B. Dailey of John Muir, Mrs. Kenneth Green of Edison, Mrs. H. P. Klotzly of Roosevelt, Mrs. O. F. Turner of Willard, Mrs. L. D. Spencer of Spurgeon, Mrs. E. R. Childs of Lathrop, Mrs. Ora Heine of the high school, and Mrs. Floyd Gibson of Lowell.

At a business meeting prior to the installation, with Mrs. Mitchell still presiding, yearly reports were given by Mrs. Harry Becker as treasurer, and Mrs. A. E. Knight as historian.

Also at this time Mrs. Givens presented the names of her chairmen for the year on council duty. Under Mrs. Hoiles, who is director of organization, will be Mrs. H. H. Hildebrand, standards; Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, emblems and publications; Dr. Hester Olewiler, Founder's Day chairman; Mrs. O. V. Barton, program service.

Under Mrs. Smiley, director of extension, will be Mrs. Harry Le Bard, membership; and James H. Thomas, Fathers' forums.

Under Mrs. Elliott, director of public welfare, will be Mrs. Harry Fink, safety; Judge Kenneth Morrison, juvenile protection; Frank Henderson, legislation; Miss Margaret Wolfe, recreation; Mrs. K. C. Loughton, motion pictures.

Under Mrs. Eckel, director of education, will be Mrs. Marcus Lassiter, art; Mrs. Mary B. Robertson, exceptional children; Mrs. Ernest Elsner, music; Mrs. J. W. Logan, radio; Mrs. R. Dean Smiley, student welfare; and Mrs. L. D. Spencer, character education.

Serving with Mrs. Vernon, director of health, will be Mrs. Horace Lee, as summer round-up chairman.

Chairmen at large will be Mrs. Harry Becker, finance and budget; Mrs. James Hird, parent education; Mrs. Rufus Bond, publicity; Mrs. C. W. Eggleston, California P.-T. A. magazine; Mrs. Harry Drown, life membership and student loan; Mrs. R. E. Steinberger, courtesy; Mrs. H. H. Hildebrand, registration.

Since the installation affair also commemorated the Santa Ana Council's silver anniversary, the concluding refreshment course carried out this theme, and Mrs. Givens and Mrs. Mitchell were asked to pour. At this time, a lovely basket of flowers was given Mrs. Givens as a welcome gift, and a unique token of appreciation was handed Mrs. Mitchell, a gorgeous shower of white snapdragons and white tulips, to a dozen of which were tied dollar bills.

Music also accompanied the ceremony, with violin solos by Miss Margaret Jaybert and vocal solos by J. A. Sampica, augmented by march music played on the piano by little Miss Patricia McGee.

Preceding the beautiful ceremony an equally colorful, but simpler one was performed to induct assisting officers of each school association.

From Roosevelt were installed Mrs. C. Van Dusen, first vice president; Mrs. Richard Howland, second vice president; Mrs. Arthur Kittleson, secretary; Mrs. O. V. Barton, treasurer; Mrs. Albert E. Kelly, parliamentarian; Mrs. W. D. McLaughlin, historian.

From Wilson were Mrs. W. H. Lowrance, first vice president; Mrs. Joseph Johnson, secretary; Mrs. Leslie Eckel, treasurer; Mrs. D. B. Carmichael, historian; Miss Frances Corson, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Victor Hupp was inducted as first vice president at Spurgeon; Mrs. Loren Blakely, secretary; Mrs. Thomas Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Huffman, historian; Mrs. Guy T. Matics, auditor; Mrs. James Thomas, parliamentarian.

McKinley officers are Mrs. Norman Franklin, first vice president; Mrs. Dale Elliott, second vice president; Mrs. Ruby Drake, secretary; Mrs. Josephine Goode, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Herbert Hildebrand, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Webb, historian; Mrs. J. A. Gajeski, auditor.

Installed at John Muir were Mrs. Chester Scott as first vice president; Mrs. Lloyd Horal, second vice president; Mrs. L. B. Crawford, treasurer; Mrs. Harry Fink, secretary; Mrs. Alice Grimshaw, parliamentarian.

Edison officers include Mrs. Elton Nichols, first vice president; Mrs. Kenneth Loughton, second vice president; Mrs. Howard McHenry, treasurer; Mrs. Nellie Hughes, secretary; Mrs. Ray Wahlberg, historian.

Hoover officers were Mrs. Stanley Reinhaus, first vice president; Mrs. Dean Smiley, second vice president; Mrs. Leon Lauderbach, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Griffin, secretary.

For Lincoln were inducted Mrs. Harold Honer, first vice president; Miss Charlotte Edmunds, second vice president; Mrs. Reine Chew, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Patrick Prizio, recording secretary; Mrs. Horace Lee, treasurer; Miss Minnie Penman, parliamentarian; Mrs. Paul Reed, historian.

Installed for the Patrons' association of the junior college were Mrs. Frank Was, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Northcross, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Lentz, secretary; Mrs. Charles V. Doty, treasurer.

Franklin officers inducted were Mrs. John McFarlane, first vice president; Mrs. William Tidball, recording secretary; Mrs. J. C. Polan, treasurer; Mrs. Paul Corwin, parliamentarian; Mrs. Margaretha Bolte, historian.

Willard officers were Mrs. G. E. Bogart, first vice president; Mrs. Arnold Lund, second vice president; Mrs. Gilbert Platt, secretary; Mrs. Harold Smith, treasurer; Mrs. W. B. Gibson, historian; Mrs. H. C. Drown, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Oscar de Beck was named for first vice president at Lowell; Mrs. Carol Buskirk, second vice president; Mrs. Fred Miller, recording secretary; Mrs. Hilfred Stephens, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Charles Clark, treasurer; Mrs. Earl Loving, parliamentarian; Mrs. Grace Bell, historian; Mrs. E. L. Struble, auditor.

Installed for Julia Lathrop Junior High school were Mrs. C. L. Williamson, first vice president; Mrs. Ruth Archer, second vice president; Mrs. Dan Hassett, secretary; Mrs. Leonard Musick, treasurer; Mrs. Dale Griggs, historian; Mrs. F. B. Powers, parliamentarian; Mrs. H. G. Nelson, auditor.

High school officials inducted were Mrs. Rufus Bond, first vice president; Mrs. Richard Metz, second vice president; Mrs. E. E. Frisby, secretary; and Mrs. Ray Adkinson, treasurer; Mrs. Glenn Tidball, historian.

FRANKLIN PLAYS ARE ENJOYED

Two successful evening presentations by Franklin P.-T. A. and pupils last Thursday and Friday were successful both in pleasing the audience and in adding to the group's funds.

As previously announced, two plays were given each night, directed by Miss June Arnold. Children gave "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," and P.-T. A. mothers gave "Marriage Difficulties."

On Thursday night the program was augmented by music from Visel Studio artists. An accordion ensemble directed by Gracio Granis and composed by Margaret Whitson, Ivan Tournat, Claudio Hundley, Betty Millis, Richard Scott, Calvin Granis and James Marshal played. Betty Millis gave an accordion solo, as did Ivan Tournat, and vocal solos were given by Mildred Gibson, Joanne Hockaday and Katharine Stockton.

The Franklin Singers, Phyllis Jiles, Melvin Dohlis, Kenneth Bedford and Laura Jean Carasasa, also added to the program.

Alternating with the plays on Friday was a varied musical program featuring Vida Mae Harmer, vocalist, and Maxine Jeine Hall, vocalist, from Meglin studio; a duet played by Jack Randall and Virgil Watkins, and solos by Art Wilde, Amia Mae Hawkins, Ethel Mae Hazen, Billy Ward, Billy Stidham and Buddy Braden, as well as Milton Mann, all of the Blu-Note Accordion band.

JOHN MUIR TEACHERS FETED

Executive board of John Muir P.-T. A. had a merry time on April Fools' day when they invited teachers to a dessert party at the home of Mrs. M. B. Dailey on Eastside street. When guests arrived there they were fooled, and told instead to go to the home of Mrs. Ernest Reuter on Grand avenue.

Here dunce-cap place-cards and amusing tricks and games carried out the day's theme.

Present were Miss Alice Grimshaw, Miss Stella Mueller, Mrs. Edna Ingham, Miss Florence Hulsieck, Miss Clarice Marks and Miss Mary Allen, and the Medames Wayne Tibb, Spencer Elliott, Ernest Ballow, L. C. McKee, Harry Fink, Lyle Kelly, Harold Smith, George Randall, Gordon Eslinger, R. L. Peterson, Lloyd Horal, George Hasenjaeger, E. A. Reuter, R. M. Crawford, Arnold Jones, L. D. Crawford, M. B. Dailey and Carl Warner.

POTLUCK DINNER IS ENJOYED

A group of friendly couples gathered for a mutual host party over the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard White, at Cypress. Dinner was partaken of in potluck style, and games of cards later resulted in white elephant prizes being given all concerned.

Participating were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Leland Eubank, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Metz, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Musick, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Terrell, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gill of La Habra Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lepper, Mrs. White's mother, Mrs. Fuquay, and Darlene White.

BRIDE-TO-BE FETED AT SHOWER

A surprise miscellaneous bridal shower was given for Miss Martha Zlaket of Santa Ana Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Murphy Zlaket, 122 East Santa Fe street, Placentia. Guests assembled from a number of Southern California communities to bring presents to Miss Zlaket who is to become the bride of Charles Hezmalhalch of Fullerton at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. K. Zlaket of 2409 North Park boulevard in this city, on Easter morning.

While the ladies present spent the evening playing games, Murphy Zlaket entertained the men guests in another part of the house. Miss Jeane Hezmalhalch won the prize for pinning the tail on the donkey. Mrs. Frank Sloan won high prize at pick-up-sticks, while Miss Hezmalhalch won low. At cootie, Miss Nellie Stratton won high prize and Mrs. Ben Craig won low. Mrs. A. J. Ablan and Mrs. K. Zlaket won prizes at card games.

A midnight supper was served at a long table decorated with sweet peas. Bouquets of calla lilies and snap dragons decorated the house. The shower basket where the gifts were placed was decorated with sprays of crepe paper streamers. Miss Lorraine Zlaket, daughter of the hostess assisted with serving the supper.

Guests present at the shower were the Mesdames K. Zlaket, A. J. Ablan and Phillip Zlaket, and the Misses Lorraine Ablan, Nellie Stratton and Marian Zlaket, all of Santa Ana; Mrs. Joe Zlaket and Miss Beverly Zlaket of Olive, Mrs. A. Gantus and Miss Alice Gantus of Alhambra, Mrs. Bob Hezmalhalch, Mrs. Taylor Jacobsen and Miss Jeane Hezmalhalch of Fullerton; Mrs. G. N. Zlaket, Mrs. Josephine Moshey and Mrs. A. J. Ablan, Leo Zlaket, Anses Joseph, G. N. Zlaket, A. Barrack, Charles Hezmalhalch, Junior Joseph and Carl Zlaket.

MAYFLOWER CLUB AT BEACH LUNCH

Mayflower club members were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. W. Copeland of Long Beach at a delightful luncheon party with 18 present. The hostess was showered with flowers and plants.

Mrs. Marvin Hulsey was initiated into the club at a short business meeting following the noon luncheon. Present were the Mesdames C. W. Rowland, Ray Ford, H. H. Sykes, Fannie Cunningham, Willard Pagenkopp, Carl Fisher, E. E. Frisby, William Marymee, Robert Smith, J. D. Sanborn, Fred Sanford, Harvey Springer, V. C. Shidler, Edgar Higday and Edward Cochems, all of Santa Ana, and Mrs. A. T. Perkins of Orange.

FATHERS' FORUM PLANS MEETING

Whether or not school books of today are consistent with the latest developments of educational procedure, was the topic of the discussion at Spurgeon's Fathers' forum last meeting, March 25. A committee of three fathers, Dan E. Maloney, J. M. Givens, and E. J. Murphy was elected to take part in "cub scout" activities with the school pack on hikes, and other recreation activties.

James H. Thomas, leader of the Forum, presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by P.-T. A. mothers. Next meeting of the group to be held April 29, will carry over the same topic, by introducing all the school teachers and asking them for their opinions of the fitness of modern textbooks.

General inspection of the school plant will follow, with each father writing his impressions of the school afterwards. One of the main features of the organization that neighborhood fathers are getting acquainted with each other, Mr. Thomas said. The fathers are to be in complete charge of this meeting including the serving of refreshments.

MRS. SLEEPER ENTERTAINS

Mrs. Claude Sleeper entertained members of her contract club at Danigers Wednesday, at a table decorated with a large bowl of pink and cream sweet peas and hurricane lamps with matching pink candles. Guests' places were marked with rosy placecards.

Club members present were the Mesdames A. P. Trawick, Elmer Sullivan, Frank Brigante, John Miller, Joe Harless, Francis Edmunds, Don Hilyard, and the hostess.

MRS. SUGDEN HAS CONTRACT CLUB

Mrs. Edward Sugden was hostess to her contract club Tuesday evening with a dessert party at her home at 414 West Chestnut street. Mrs. Harold Vieira received prize for high score at cards, and Mrs. Ralph Adams received second prize.

Club members present for the evening were the Mesdames Charles Kendall, jr., George Horton, Ralph Adams, Francis Edmunds, Howard Anderson, Bolton Jones and the hostess.

BOX LUNCHEON

Mary Blair class of the First Presbyterian church will meet Friday, April 8, at 12 noon in the fellowship room of the church. The affair will be a mystery party and members are to bring box lunches

Mrs. Roper Is Hostess To Bridge Club

When Mrs. Parke S. Roper entertained her club yesterday afternoon in her home at 1810 North Broadway she invited Mrs. A. W. Rutan and Mrs. Clare Johnson to substitute for Mrs. A. G. Flagg and Mrs. R. G. Tuthill, both unable to be present.

Guests were seated for luncheon at a table pretty with sweet peas from the gardens of Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank and Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth.

Members present, in addition to the two special guests, were Mrs. C. V. Davis, Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. Farnsworth, Mrs. George Briggs, Mrs. Earl Morrow, Mrs. Philip Hatzfeld, Mrs. Roy Hall, Mrs. I. F. Landis and Mrs. James Harding, with the hostess.

LUNCH AND MOVIE ATTENDED

The ladies' auxiliary of the carpenters' union held a social meeting Monday, starting with a 12:30 luncheon at Daniger's. Guests were seated at a long table spread with white linen. A bouquet of orchid sweet peas centered the table and bronze pottery was used. The ladies attended a movie in the afternoon.

Present were the Mesdames Zana Lonon, Mary Lambert, Melvina Titchnel, Esther Crabtree, Ollie Miner, Fern Benner, Agnes Schroth, Betty Rupert, Belle Bergsetter, Amy Billingsly, Agnes Buckwalter and Bertha Bowland. Next regular meeting of the group will be held April 12 at the Labor temple.

CONTRACT EIGHT IS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. Dee Dixon entertained members of her contract club Tuesday afternoon at her home on West Tenth street, at a dessert bridge party. Bowls of golden glow double nasturtiums decorated the hostess' home, together with bouquets of sweet peas.

Present for the pleasant afternoon were the Mesdames Glann Seldner, N. O. Evans, Louis Fritchen and Herbert Nelson, substitute guest, and Miss Margaret Loescher, all of Orange; and the Mesdames Lyle J. Kelley and Carl Eltiste of this city.

CARD PARTY BENEFIT

A benefit card party under the auspices of the Tustin High school P.-T. A., will have its setting in the lovely home of Mrs. W. S. Suddaby on Lemon Heights. The affair is to take place April 26 at 2 p. m.

Club Travels To Pasadena For Bridge

A journey to Pasadena offered extra pleasure to members of a fortnightly bridge club yesterday when they met at the home of Mrs. Will Flood in that city for luncheon and contract.

Mrs. Howard Rapp was co-hostess with Mrs. Flood, assisting in serving a delicious luncheon at one large table centered with exquisite deep red roses. Iris were used elsewhere for decorations.

No member has yet been elected to fill the place of Mrs. H. H. Harwood of Los Angeles, who resigned recently when she moved to Santa Monica, so Mrs. Norman Pixley, daughter of Mrs. Flood, was substitute.

Members attending from Santa Ana, the first three of which were prize winners, were Mrs. Sara Johnston Haddon, Mrs. H. T. Dunning, Mrs. Howard Rapp, Mrs. A. I. Mellenthin, Mrs. L. G. Swales, Mrs. R. C. Hoiles, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, Mrs. H. B. Van Dien, Mrs. Marguerite Borgmeyer and Mrs. Mary Lacy.

ALTAR SOCIETY MEETS AT MEMBER'S HOME

St. Joseph's Altar society met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Catherine Schmeideberg, 1202 North Van Ness street, for a pleasant afternoon of book reviews and refreshments with 30 present. Mrs. Robert Sandon, society president, presided.

The prize of the afternoon, a clever whatnot made of mirrors, donated by Mrs. F. F. Mead, was won by Mrs. Joe Haupert. Mrs. Estelle Card Beeman reviewed the play, "Star Wagon," by Maxwell Anderson, which was enjoyed by the guests. Refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon by the hostess.

TWO ENTERTAIN HARMONY CLUB

A pleasant time was experienced this week by members of Harmony Bridge club when they were guests of Rose Chast and Jessie Rez at the Rossmore cafe for luncheon. Sweetpea and stock decorations were pretty on the table.

Later at bridge contract prizes were presented to Mrs. Maude Swarthout and Mrs. Nellie Young, and auction prizes to Mrs. Florence Wright and Mrs. Rose Chast.

Mrs. E. A. Elwell was welcomed as a new member, and it was announced that Mrs. Elizabeth Gowdy would entertain the group April 19.

MISS BEULAH MAY IS HOSTESS TO SECTION

Always extra-enjoyable are the meetings of Modehrn Poetry section of Ebell club when they occur at the home of Miss Beulah May, beloved member and ranking poet. This week the meeting was given added interest by Miss May's presentation of James Joyce's poetry.

She did so by first reading excerpts from his novel, "Portrait of the Artist as a Young Man," which revealed all the sordid, bitter details of his own life. The ensuing poems she read were in an entirely different vein, both in subject matter and spirit, and proved an interesting contrast. Mrs. Robert Northcross threw light on this difference by reading an explanatory article in a recent magazine.

Miss May also gave a delightful little talk on the new poetry collection, "Desk Draw Anthology," compiled by Alice and Theodore Roosevelt, jr., in which one of her own poems appears.

Mrs. Northcross and Miss Ruth Rowland, co-hostesses with Miss May, served a dainty tea course to conclude the afternoon, for which Mina Shafer was a guest. Members present were the Mesdames Horace Scott, John Tessmann, Louis Vorhis, E. M. Nealley, A. H. Hatch, Aldric Worswick, Harwood Sharp, Edith Thatcher, Robert Northcross, Lillian Pritchett, S. B. Marshall, Miss Verna Wells, Miss Luvicy Carter, Miss Vanche Plumb, and Miss Mabel Whiting.

TROTT HOME IS SCENE OF CLUB MEET

Mrs. H. R. Trott was hostess to X. N. O. club at her home, 1117 Oak street, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Ralph Cramer of 911 Spurgeon street, a newcomer to Santa Ana, was introduced by Mrs. Trott as her special guest. Mrs. Fred Ahlseld and Mrs. R. H. Traylor of Plains, Kan., who is visiting her daughter here this winter, were also guests.

The Trott home was beautifully decorated with spring flowers of all varieties. Guests of the afternoon wore new spring house dresses and spent the afternoon sewing. The birthday of Mrs. Warren E. Webb was observed by club members. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the afternoon. Next meeting of the group will be at the home of Mrs. A. R. Bennett on April 20.

Members present for the delightful afternoon were the Mesdames R. A. McPhee, E. E. Edwards, Frank Dane, E. E. Perry, Stanley Hardin, W. E. Webb, W. R. Edwards, A. R. Bennett, M. O. Johnson, and the hostess.

Formal Wedding Occurs In Candle-Lighted Church

Although many lovely weddings have taken place in the beautiful Episcopal Church of the Messiah, none have been more lovely than that at which Miss Farla Nell Clayton last night became the bride of Kenneth Hunt. The church was ablaze with candlelight, with tall tapers at each pew along the aisle, rising from a flower-cluster base. On the beautiful altar were dozens of burning candles, and flanking it in tiers were magnificent candelabra. The chancel and entire church were outlined with masses of white Easter lilies, stock, iris and bridal wreath.

Miss Clayton was exquisite in the simplest of bridal gowns, a long delicately-moulded frock of white satin with long train and long sleeves and no other trim. An unadorned veil, the length of her train, fell from a circlet of seed pearls, and she wore as her only ornaments a lovely pink cameo given her mother by her father, and worn at their wedding, and the bracelet-watch given her by her own bridegroom. She carried a tiny quaint tatted handkerchief brought to California more than half a century ago by Mrs. James Trew, an old family friend.

Her bridesmaids were outfitted in three tones of blue, each in adorable period frock of taffeta with tight bodice, puffed sleeves, and full skirts. Each carried a matching muff and wore a shoulder veil falling from one single gardenia in her hair. These were the Misses Mary Anne Baxter, Patricia McClure, Phyllis Gerrard, Janet Diehl, Dorothy Coe and Marjorie McDonald.

Her matron of honor, Mrs. Clyde Henry, sister of the groom, wore a charming frock of pale pink taffeta and carried pastel sweetpeas as did the demure little flower girl, Georgann Wessels, wearing a flowered "Snow White" frock in pale yellow.

Mr. Leonard Clayton gave his niece in marriage, and the Rev. W. J. Hatter officiated at the rites, which were accompanied by soft organ music played by Alan Revill, and lovely vocal solos by Miss Edith McDonald.

Best man to the groom was Frank Snyder, with George Wardwell, jr., George Crane, George Conaway, Lowell Newlin, Clyde Henry and Wayne Prior as ushers.

The several hundred guests gathered after the ceremony in the church hall where equally lovely flowers were arranged behind a tea-table where a family heirloom, a Russian samovar, was presided over by Mrs. Emmett Elliott, in figured print gown, and Mrs. Otto Schroeder in pink lace.

In the receiving line were Miss Hazel Nell Bemus, aunt of the bride with whom she has made her home, and wearing a smart gown of deep blue with matching turban; Mrs. Frank Bemus, grandmother of the bride, in black with gardenia corsage; Mrs. Elva Hunt, mother of the groom, in blue lace with gardenias.

Assisting in serving were Mrs. William Fritcher, Miss Jean Paxton, Miss Leola Schroeder, Miss Mary Nau, and Miss Ruth Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Hunt left immediately on a honeymoon to San Francisco; the bride wearing a smart ensemble in tones of green. Both attended Santa Ana junior college, the bride having previously gone through school here, and the groom having attended Garden Grove schools. Both were prominent in journalism work, and he is now associated with Standard Oil company in Laguna Beach, where they will make their home.

HOMOPHENOUS CLUB MET WITH ORANGE AIDES

The Homophenous club devoted their April meeting to assisting the Orange aides in renovating their new clubhouse on Palisades road, Costa Mesa. Armed with brooms and dust mops, the ladies whistled while they worked.

Afternoon tea was served in the club rooms after the cleaning-up. Present were the Misses Ruth Bartlett, Marian Walker, Pauline Parsons, Elsie Lee Huffine, president of the Orange aides, and the Mesdames Gertrude McMaster, Maude Bauman, Alice Scheel, Gladys E. Brown, Mable Lowell, Ruth Smith, Cora Huber, Gertrude Nash, Ella Beauchamp, Anna Hossfield, Mabel Clayton, Rhoda Dewell, Emma Hall, May Groover, Florence Huffine, Harriet L. Rurup and Gertrude Smith.

HONORED ON GOING AWAY

Mrs. Della Miller was honored at a surprise handkerchief shower given for her Monday afternoon at her home on Ross street by fellow members of the Women's Relief corps. Refreshments were served during the afternoon.

Mrs. Miller left Tuesday morning for Uniontown, Pa., to visit with her son and other relatives for several months. Mrs. Lulu Hall was in charge of the shower arrangements.

HOOVER P.-T. A. MEETS

Hoover school P.-T. A. members met this afternoon to install their new officers, and to hear a musical program by members of the high school music department under the direction of Herbert G. Bickel, with tea following.

FASHIONETTES

By LOIS McKEE

THE PERKEST

APRONS we have run across are to be found at the CHIC LINGERIE, 219 No. Broadway. One called "Gone with the wind"—fits beautifully and is of a summery print. The "Tyrolean" is organdy trimmed and laced up the front in true peasant fashion. The peasants are represented again with a waist apron named for them. Cool batiste nighties and pajamas for the warm nights ahead have made their appearance. And handkerchiefs for that new Easter costume—there is one in bright red with six tiny bow knots tied so demurely. If you are a race fan—there is one with your favorite horse appliqued in his blanket and his stable is embroidered in the background. They are all of imported linen by Hallie Newton of Hollywood.

IS YOUR CLOTHING

FRESH and clean for Easter and the sunny days ahead? The wise thing to do—is to call the WASHINGTON CLEANERS AND DYERS, 1109 North Main St., phone 4944, and ask for a driver to call and pick up your soiled garments. In a few days they will be returned looking as fresh and bright as the day you bought them. They will be handled carefully and skillfully from the time they leave your possession until they are returned to you. You are assured of the best possible work in cleaning, pressing and dying. Have the WASHINGTON change the color of some of your faded garments from last summer. You may do so with complete safety.

A SPECIAL PURCHASE

OF 32-piece bungalow sets, has been made by WIESSEMAN'S, Main and 5th Sts., and they are selling for the unbelievable sum of $2.95! All sets are selected quality with smooth ivory glaze and embossed edge. All have a harmoniously colored center spray and are of WIESSEMAN'S usual high quality. Better hurry as there is a limit of one to a customer. Many other attractive sets are selling for $3.95 and $4.95. A beautiful wainut handled waffle iron is being featured at $4.95 and what could be better than waffles for Easter breakfast? Waffle irons make lovely Easter gifts, as do the lamps and other electric appliances featured at WIESSEMAN'S.

☆ ☆ ☆

HAVE YOU SEEN IT?

THE new and instructive Autobridge, at STEIN'S, 307 West Fourth St. If you are a beginner at bridge it will teach you, if an advanced player it will improve your game and if an expert—it will test your skill. It is the perfect solitaire game of bridge edited by famous bridge authorities and while you play—you are playing with invisible experts. It will detect and correct errors for you in the most uncanny manner. STEIN'S have just received a new shipment of lessons for the Autobridge so it is possible to advance the game as you progress. It is well worth a trip to town to see this fascinating new game played and a very courteous lady will explain it to you. But don't be long as they are going fast.

YOUR HUSBAND

OR BOY FRIEND will be glad if you suggest that he complete his Easter outfit with a pair of shoes from VANDERMAST'S, 120 West Fourth. The "Hialeah" model is of white genuine buckskin with a brown calf trim and is hand lasted. There is another—the Kingston—all white buckskin with a dressy wing tip. It also is hand lasted and has a leather heel. It is smart and wise to wear shoes from VANDERMAST'S.

YOU HAVE PERHAPS

HEARD of the new Community silver—Rendezvous — and it's here to be seen at TROTT'S, 424 North Sycamore St. It is rather ornate but in a quiet, dignified manner. Talisman design by Wm. Rogers & Son is of simple elegance with a smooth, satiny finish that you will love. During April Mr. Trott is offering some very attractive prices in several other patterns by famous silversmiths. What an opportune time to buy silver for "that someone's" wedding. To introduce their new pattern, Community is offering a nut or bon-bon server at an unheard-of low price. They will make splendid gifts or bridge prizes. Ask to see Rendezvous and Talisman.

YOU WILL FIND

A MOST complete line of fine hats at SCOULLER'S LADIES' APPAREL, 312 North Sycamore St. Straws in all colors—yellow, turquoise blue, luggage, brown and of course navy and black. A large white straw model trimmed with bands and bow of luggage will be particularly good looking with a suit. A petite Gibson Girl sailor boasts a navy veil. An all black model has a leather bird perched jauntily on the crown. A navy straw has two shades of blue, making the trimming with a perky bow on the side. Natural straws and leghorns are there in great number. It's SCOULLER'S for smart hats.

FASHION CHATTER

Dear Friends:

With Easter in the offing, aren't we all agog over Easter clothes? It seems this season, more than ever before, that costumes of all types are considered "good." Suits are always good and dresses of all types and materials are considered right in the swing. Speaking of swing — some dresses still feature the swing skirt—but it has varied some. Pleats are being arranged in such fashion as to give a swing effect and are being stitched down from the waist in a "sun burst" fashion.

"Indian Corn" colors are new and very good. They are just what the name implies—colors of Indian corn—from yellow, rust to brown, such warm, rich tones.

A clever new pin for your lapel or sports clothes has arrived in one of our local shops. It is made of wood and looks like a tiny sombrero and comes in various gay colors. There is a single one, or one with two very wee sombreros dangling from it and then there is a bar type pin with three of the very wee-est ones placed securely in a row. New and so different!

LOIS M'KEE

LOIS McKEE

DO YOU HAVE

A SON and heir who needs sun and air? Or a young daughter whose needs are the same? WELSH'S VARIETY STORE, 118 No. Sycamore have made a special purchase of sun suits of the finest materials, all sun fast and Sanforized. Some are of shantung, others are Regatta pique and another lot are of Ripple cord and the sizes from 7 to 14 are selling for only 49c! The tiny tots—from 3 to 6—can be fitted for the small sum of 19c.

RE-OPENING

FRIDAY, April 8th, and serving their unusually fine meals, he HOME CAFE, 304 No. Broadway, boasts a new modernistic front done in brown and buff. Their interior decorations are also in brown and buff and make for a cheery atmosphere in which to eat their delicious meals.

YOU'LL SURELY

WANT to show your Easter flowers to the best advantage. PACIFIC POTTERY YARD, 1911 North Main St. is featuring vases and bowls for your favorite blooms and they come in a variety of colors and sizes. Many of the bowls come in metal frames and look for all the world like quaint little baskets. Bubble vases supported by mirrors make a charming wall decoration and are in a variety of sizes and colors. There are some charming table decorations for your Easter dinner table, too.

'RADIO REVELS' AT WALKER'S

The story of broadcasting, with music, a revue numbering in its personnel, some of Hollywood's favorite comics, songsters and musicians, flashes for the first time today over the screen at Walker's theater, to continue through Friday and Saturday.

"Radio City Revels" is the name of it, said to be one of the best musical numbers yet turned out on Radio Pictures lot.

In the cast are Bob Burns, Jack Oakie, Kenny Baker, Ann Miller, Victor Moore, Milton Berle, Helen Broderick, Jane Froman, Buster West, Melissa Mason, Richard Lane, Mariyn Vernon and Hal Kemp's orchestra.

As the press agent's catch line says—"Here comes the show from rhythm row." 'Nuff said.

Charlie Chan (Warner Oland) who this week set off for Italy on a freighter "for a change" is back on the silver sheets again and will be seen in the second feature, "Charlie Chan at Monte Carlo." In support of Charlie you will see Keye Luke (that clever Chinaman), Virginia Field, Sidney Blackmer, Harold Huber, Kay Linaker, Robert Kent and others.

"March of Time" gives you the high lights of world happenings and there is the latest newsreel.

Last but not least, "Treasure C[illegible]" tonight—that little game wherein you and the other fellow stands a chance of getting something for nothing.

'Sinfonietta' Heard Again

By TOM E. DANSON

Under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein, another "Sinfonietta" concert will be heard over KVOE and the Mutual Network tonight at 5:15.

Selections to be played will include Rossini's Overture, "Italians in Algiers," Guenther's Schubertiana, and Serly's Concerto for viola and orchestra.

* * *

"PANTHER WOMAN" CROSBY'S GUEST

Bing Crosby is host to Edmund Lowe, Gail Patrick and Rudolph Ganz in the Kraft Music Hall tonight.

Tom E. Danson

Bing contributes a few current tunes and a memory song to the broadcast over the KFI-NBC-Red Network at 7:00, accompanied by Johnny Scott Trotter's orchestra. Bob Burns resumes his tales of the Ozarks.

Edmund Lowe is no stranger in the Music Hall, having called on two previous occasions for a going over a la Crosby.

Miss Patrick, who won a "Panther woman" contest which started her screen career, not as a "Panther woman" but as a dramatic actress, is making her second appearance.

Ganz is one of the world's most celebrated concert pianists, appearing in the Hall for the fourth time.

* * *

CHAS. BAUM, ON KATE'S SHOW

The popular Manhattan pianist, Charles Baum, famed for his interpretations of novelty tunes, will be among the guests on Kate Smith's "Variety Hour" over the KNX Columbia network tonight from 8:30 to 9:30. As usual, the program also is to boast a celebrity from the stage who will take part in an excerpt from one of Broadway's current successes. Kate plans to present her regular comedians, Abbott and Costello; Ted Straeter's mixed chorus, Jack Miller's orchestra, in addition to singing several "Memory Songs."

* * *

"FARM BOY"

Radio Book Club players tonight dramatize Phil Stong's "Farm Boy" (KEHE, 6:45).

Set in the Iowa of the early 1900's, "Farm Boy" is one of Phil Stong's most beloved books.

Radio version of the story was written by Elizabeth Goudy and Wilson Bower.

* * *

JUDY RETURNS

Judy Garland, who was recently "initiated" into the Sigma Chi fraternity at Ohio State, will sing "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" as a feature of her return to "Good News of 1938," tonight. The young MGM starlet has just completed a very successful personal appearance tour of the United States. (KFI-NBC-Red network, 6 to 7.)

Robert Taylor, master-of-ceremonies, will also present Maureen O'Sullivan, John Beal and Frank Morgan in a preview sketch of their new picture, "Port of Seven Seas." Others on the program will be Sam Levine, New York stage comedian, who will appear in the new picture, "Yellow Jack," Fanny (Baby Snooks) Brice and Meredith Willson's orchestra.

* * *

Stephen Foster's plaintive melodies, virtually the origin of all plantation music from the dreamy South, will highlight the program of "Hollywood Serenade," reaching national airlanes tonight at 7 o'clock on KVOE and the Mutual-Don Lee network.

A medley of the noted composer's works will be followed by a violin solo of "Solitude" by Elias Breeskin, the conductor of the "Hollywood Serenade" symphony orchestra of 75 pieces.

Miss June Knight, film celebrity of Hollywood and London, again returns to the microphone with interpretations of modern songs. Miss Knight's first number will be "Something in Blue."

* * *

WHAT'S CORRECT?

What's the socially correct thing to do when your best client comes to dinner and your twins trip him into a nasty fall on the concrete sidewalk with a string cleverly stretched for that purpose?

Judy and Jane need badly an answer to that question in tomorrow's episode of their daily drama heard from KNX at 3:30 p. m., for that's what happens just as the girls were all set to make a good impression on their visitor

* * *

PAN-AMERICAN DAY

An address by Secretary of State Cordell Hull and music by the United Service orchestra, composed of members of the three U. S. service bands, will feature a Pan-American day concert to be presented over the National Broadcasting company networks tonight.

The concert, to be heard in this country from 7:30 to 8 p. m., PST., over the KECA NBC-blue network, also will be shortwaved, in its entirety, over W3XAL, of the NBC international division at Bound Brook, N. J., and by shortwave transmitters W2ZAF, Schenectady, and W8XK, Pittsburgh. Spanish and Portuguese announcements of the program and translations of Secretary Hull's speech will be given on the shortwave bands.

* * *

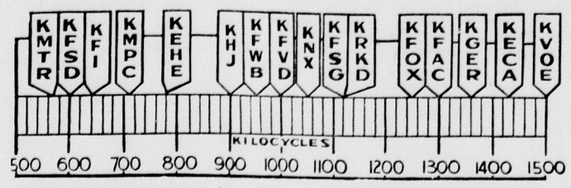

SPORTS TALK

The 1938 track and field season, and the Olympic Games prospects for 1940, will be discussed by sports experts Dean Cromwell and Mark Kelly when Cromwell, U. S. C. track coach, appears as guest on Kelly's "Man to Man Sports" program over KNX and stations of the Columbia Pacific network, tonight from 7 to 7:15.

THE WRONG MURDERER

By HUGH CLEVELY

Chapter 42

"Wot was you thinkin' of offering?" Bassett asked.

"I'll pay you anything you like if you'll arrange for me to see him," protested Elsa earnestly. "And I'm not thinking of trying to harm him. I want to help him."

Her sincerty was evident; so Bassett abandoned his suspicions. He smiled, and suddenly his fat, cunning face became astonishingly genial and human.

"Orl right, miss; I was only tryin' yer out," he said. "If Mr. Mahony is willin' to see yer, I'll fix up a meetin'. And' there's no question of any money between you an me. I'm out to 'elp Mr. Mahony just as much as you are."

His face hardened suddenly.

"But if anythin' was to 'appen to Mr. Mahony through this meetin' with you, I'm telling yer plain, I wouldn't be in your shoes arterwards for all the gold in the Bank of England."

That concluded the interview between them, and they parted. Elsa felt somewhat guilty after she had left Bassett. She had no doubt that after Mahony had been kidnaped, Bassett would think that she had betrayed him, and, in spite of the fact that Bassett was a self-confessed crook, she did not want him to think that of her. Yet, in a way, she was undoubtedly planning to betray Mahony as she had betrayed him before.

But Lawson soon banished all her qualms and doubts. He did it very cleverly.

"So Bassett threatened you, did he?" he said. "Well, then, if you take my tip, you'll abandon the whole idea of trying to help Mahony. From what I've heard, Bassett is the kind of man who carries out his threats, and it's not worth helping Mahony if you're going to have a bad car accident, or have your beauty spoiled by an accurately flung broken bottle, afterwards."

"I don't care what happens afterwards if I can help him," said Elsa defiantly, as Lawson had known she would. "I got him into this trouble and it's up to me to get him out of it. I shan't abandon the idea at all."

"If you take my advice—" began Lawson.

"I don't want any advice," interrupted Elsa. "All I want is the help you promised me."

"Very well. If you're determined to go on with the idea, I suppose I shall have to help you," said Lawson in a resigned voice.

When Bassett left Elsa he went straight to Mahony and reported the result of the interview to him.

"You know guv'ner, I was all against 'er at first; I thought she was wantin' to do the dirty on yer, like she did when you met 'er before,' 'he stated. "But I changed me mind. I think she's on the straight this time. I think she's really out to 'elp yer."

"I dare say she is," replied Mahony smiling. "But she's a marvelous actress, you know, Fatty. She took me in once, and while I wouldn't profess to be such an authority on women as you are, I wouldn't put it past her to take you in. There are one or two things about all this that strike me as a bit queer.

"In the first place, what made her think of trying to get in touch with me through you? She may have thought of it herself, but it doesn't strike me as the kind of thing that would occur to her unless someone else suggested it. Then, if she's got information to give me, why must she see me personally to give it? Why can't she write it out and send it to me through you?"

He paused, smiling.

"Personally, I believe that she would help me if she could," he went on. "But I think there's just a possibility that she may have asked someone—some old friend, of hers, perhaps—to help her to help me, and he may have generously agreed, and may be using her as a cloak for his own schemes against me."

"You think Lawson may be behind this somewhere?" queried Bassett. "I suppose you won't meet her, then?"

"Your supposition is entirely incorrect," replied Mahony cheerfully. "If Lawson is behind this, and is planning some ambush for me, I should hate to disappoint the poor fellow. He's had rather a lot of disappointments lately.

"You fix an appointment for me with her in some nice, isolated, lonely house; be sure you find some place where almost anything might happen without anybody butting in to disturb the fun and games, and let Miss Little know where this appointment is to take place five or six hours beforehand, so that if friend Lawson is going to pop up with some dirty scheme, he'll have plenty of time to make all his preparations. When you've fixed every thing up, let me know, and I'll tell you what else to do."

Fatty Bassett sniffed disparagingly.

"I shouldn't take too many chances, guv'ner," he said. "I can see you're laying a trap for Lawson, but don't forget he 's got abart four times the number of men that I have, and if it comes to a free for all in some lonely place, there's more than a chance that they may prove too many for us, even if we do take 'em by surprise."

"They'll be too many for us all right, if it comes to a fight," answered Mahony. "But don't worry about that yet. And another thing. Not a word about this to Miss Fraser. If she knows I've got some big scheme on, she'll want to be in it, and I don't want to run any risk of anything happening to her."

Lawson waited in some anxiety for Mahony's answer to Elsa's request for a meeting. His answer arrived that night. Bassett got into touch with Elsa by telephone and told her that Mahony would meet her at eleven the following night at a house called "The Hawthorns," situated on a patch of waste ground near the edge of Clapham Common.

Elsa at once took this news to Lawson, and again Lawson hid a smile. Evidently Mahony was taking the precaution of meeting Elsa in a fairly remote and lonely place. That suited his own plans excellently.

And the fact that twenty-four hours had to elapse before the meeting also suited him excellently. It gave him plenty of time to reconnoiter the ground quietly and prepare his plans.

"You can leave things entirely to me, now," he said to Elsa. "There's no need for you to keep this appointment or to involve yourself in this any further. I'll make all the arrangements to have him quietly seized and put aboard a steamer, and I'll let you know as soon as he's safely out of the country."

Elsa shook her head.

"I want to be there when he's captured," she said. "After your men have taken him I want to talk to him, and try to convince him that what we're doing is all for his own good. I should feel awful if I just let him be captured and taken away without putting in an appearance myself—as though I were afraid to face him. Besides, I want to speak to him about Ruth. I should like to do something for her, too, if I can."

"My dear girl, you're just being ridiculous," pointed out Lawson in the tone of one who gives good advice. "Your presence, when we take him, would only complicate matters enormously. For one thing, we may not be able to take him without a struggle, and if there is any fighting I don't want you mixed up in it. You've done your part in the plan; the rest of it is a man's job entirely, and your presence would only hinder matters."

"I'm not going to do anything behind Terence Mahony's back that I won't do to his face," replied Elsa stubbornly. "I've told him I'd meet him and I'm going to meet him. And you can make up your mind to that."

Lawson knew her stubborn nature; only a short time previously he had played on it to his own advantage. Obviously it was no good attempting to argue with her now. He turned away from her for a moment and stared out of the window, thinking hard.

The details of his plan for the following night depended on the situation of the house, but so far as the main lines of his plan were concerned, his mind was already firmly made up. He had no intention of taking any chances with Mahony this time.

Lawson is forced to a change of plain, tomorrow.

PRISON DRAMA AT BROADWAY

Dick Foran and June Travis, fast-rising young Warner Brothers stars, appear today at the Broadway theater in "Over the Wall," a melodrama having to do with a man falsely thrown into prison and his sweetheart who believes in him and finally obtains his freedom.

The story was written by Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing prison. Foran's singing voice, which appealed to music lovers in his western films, is heard to good effect in the new picture.

In the picture, Foran becomes a member of the prison choir whose songs are broadcast weekly. Miss Travis is his faithful sweetheart. John Litel and Veda Ann Borg are prominently featured.

On the same program is "He Couldn't Say No," an intriguing comedy about a man who falls in love with a statue. The man is a poor clerk, played by Frank McHugh, who buys the statue of a senator's daughter. The cast includes Jane Wyman and Cora Witherspoon.

CHURCH WOMEN INSTALL NEW OFFICERS

The Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church met in the church parlors yesterday afternoon for the installation of the newly elected officers. The ceremony was especially written for the occasion by Mrs. Cara Torrens, newly elected president. Other new officers are Mrs. E. C. Lukens, vice president; Mrs. W. W. Hoy, secretary; Miss Minnie Cowan, treasurer; Mrs. A. Harris, literature secretary; Miss James White, temperance secretary; and Mrs. C. F. Millen, thanks offering secretary.

The new officers took up their duties at yesterday's meeting with Mrs. Torrens presiding. Devotions were led by Mrs. S. McCaw. Mrs. Hoy was program leader with "Behind the Garden of Allah" as her subject, telling of the only missionaries in the Sudan. Miss Martha Smith told of the Sudan of yesterday.

Mrs. McCormac, president of the federated society of church women was present to announce a meeting to be held at the First Presbyterian church April 29 with a noon luncheon. Reservations for the lunch are being taken by Mrs. Leon Lauderbach, Phone 1367-J. Delegates named to attend this meeting were Mrs. Stewart Kennedy, Mrs. Emma Noble and Mrs. C. T. Eisle.

The Women's Presbyterial will be held from April 19 through 26. Delegates elected to attend this were Mrs. A. J. McFadden and Mrs. Will McBurney, with Mrs. Clara Prince and Mrs. Grace Musick as alternates.

Happy Birthday

CHURCH WOMEN HAVE PROGRAM

Woman's Union of the Congregational church met yesterday for a covered dish luncheon at the church dining room with a good attendance. A short business meeting and program followed at the bungalow. Mrs. Bert Miles, president, presided at the business meeting.

The high school double quartet composed of Margaret Fields, Margaret Jaberg, Catherine Smithers, Lorraine Sweet, Fred Blauer, Kenneth Aiken, Harry Thompson and Harley Huton, sang four selections, accompanied at the piano by Verna Marie Osborn. Mrs. C. F. Jackson read several poems to the group.

THE JOB NOBODY WANTED..

Four nations claimed Idaho at the same time when it originally formed a part of the great Oregon country—the United States, Great Britain, Spain and Russia all believing they owned it.

Finally U. S. government officials won an undisputed title to the land and formed the Territory of Idaho, in 1863, by subdividing Washington, Dakota and Nebraska—but their troubles had just begun. Nobody, it seemed, wanted to be governor of the new territory!

Abraham Lincoln in '63 appointed William H. Wallace to the office, but he didn't last a year. Wallace left to take a seat in the U. S. congress as a territorial delegate. The next two men, Caleb Lyon and David Ballard, did manage to finish their respective terms.

Then, in 1870, President U. S. Grant hit a snag. Four men in a row refused to take over the job when Grant named them to the honored position! Samuel Bard, an Atlanta, Georgia, newspaperman, received an appointment on March 30, 1870, and immediately refused it.

In desperation, Grant turned to an old friend and Civil war subordinate officer, Thomas W. Bennett of Richmond, Indiana. Bennett accepted and served a full term of four years, breaking Grant's "jinx."

New York Stocks

NEW YORK. (AP)—Getting a foothold on recovery proved a difficult job for the stock market today and leading issues tilted slightly forward and backward at frequent intervals.
Dealings were even slower than in yesterday's crawling session and, near the fourth hour, prices were a shade either way in all departments.
The list pushed moderately upward at the start, with steels in front. Diffidence of buyers, however, soon inspired light offerings and initial improvement was reduced or cancelled subsequently.

A Way to Stimulate Building

In view of the man-sized wallop which the recession has dealt the local building industry, the proposal to construct federal low-cost projects takes on added importance.

City building permits to date this year are far below what they were in 1937.

At this time last year a total of 351 permits had been issued to cover work amounting to $407,998.

But so far this year only 209 permits have been taken out for $248,142 worth of construction.

This is, roughly speaking, a decline of 25 per cent, and it means that there are some 150 building jobs less in Santa Ana and about $150,000 less money being spent for labor and materials than there were during the first quarter of 1937. Not so good.

* * * *

A federal slum-clearance and low-cost housing project, such as that which is being proposed, could go a long way toward restoring activity in the building industry.

While no estimates on the cost have been issued (such estimates would be almost impossible without a painstaking survey of needs and the means to satisfy them), yet it can be safely assumed that it would probably would run into several hundred thousand dollars.

Estimates on projects taken at random throughout the United States show this: Birmingham, Ala., $4,500,000; Jacksonville, Fla., $1,000,000; Peoria, Ill., $1,500,000; Covington, Ky., $1,400,000; Charleston, S. C., $900,000; Austin, Tex., $450,000; Morgantown, W. Va., $270,000.

These sums have been earmarked by the national housing authority. The earmarking does not mean that specific plans have been approved. It simply means that U. S. authorities are satisfied that local agencies are qualified and equipped to meet the terms of the act.

From them we can draw some general conclusion as to the possible cost of a similar program in this county.

* * * *

Determined efforts to obtain a low-cost shelter program for this county are now being made.

The county planning commission has adopted a resolution asking the supervisors to authorize a survey of the need and the means for meeting it.

Several responsible county organizations have gone on record urging action.

Public-spirited citizens who are especially distressed over slum conditions in various parts of this area have personally appeared before the board.

A petition has been signed, which, if in proper legal form, will automatically start county machinery rolling toward creation of a housing authority.

All of these things have been done, however, more from a humanitarian viewpoint, we believe, than from the strictly economic angle of stimulating the building industry throughout Orange county.

When the humanitarian and economic reasons are combined. the wisdom and desirability of the program becomes imperative in its demand for prompt action on the part of the supervisors.

Utopia Through Science

One of the most heartening forecasts to come from the world of science is that of Dr. George Morris Piersal and Dr. Edward L. Bortz of the University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, at the current New York meeting of the American College of Physicians.

They assert that war and other inhuman cruelty will be blotted from the future ages by advances in medical science which will conquer the mental ills to blame for such things as the Sino-Japanese war and the horrible Pecos, Tex., murders of two California women.

"The diseases of intolerance and the lust to kill," the physicians declare, "may respond to treatment just as some of the other mental diseases heretofore regarded as incurable."

Their prediction is not beyond belief. Who would have thought 100 years ago that science by 1938 could have banished yellow fever, smallpox, diphtheria and dozens of other plagues from many spots on the world? Who would have thought that infantile paralysis, tuberculosis and cancer would have been on their way out as they are today?

The history of medical science for the past century may be taken as a guide for the centuries to come.

For ages civilization has sought vainly to remedy its ills through legislation, religion and other panaceas which come easily and readily to the minds of some men. But the masses for the larger part have been unable to adhere to the strict self-discipline and moral control involved. There is still too much weakness in human nature.

Now science is on a different tack.

Having learned how to immunize the body against certain physical ills, it seeks to immunize the mind against the desire to steal and kill. Success in this field will mean Utopia. May it come soon.

California, Illinois and New York drank 33,889,413 gallons of wine last year. What a bunch of hangovers that could account for.

Fair Enough

Patman's Literary Adventure

By Westbrook Pegler

Dun's review for the month of March contained a column advertisement of a book by the Honorable Wright Patman, member of congress from Texas and author of a law whose ambiguities seem to spring from the very soil of his homeland. Mr. Patman comes from Texarkana, which has — or used to have—two city halls, one on each side of the Texas-Arkansas boundary and a federal post office balanced nicely astride it. In the terms of the too-ofttold definition of the Washington banquet orators, Mr. Patman's home town is a civic mugwump, with her first syllable on one side of the border and her second on the other, and his favorite law, by his naive admission in a magazine for business men, teeters in the same manner.

"The Robinson-Patman act," the advertisement begins. "What you can and cannot do under this law, by Wright Patman, member of congress.

"This first-hand authority deals with questions arising under the act from the standpoint of those who must do business in accordance with it. Answers nearly 400 questions as to the effect of the law on specific trade practices, covering all sorts of distributing arrangements, setting of prices and discounts, fixing sales territories, location of warehouses, selection of wholesalers versus your own salesmen, etc.

HOW TO OPERATE

"Many questions go into complex, difficult points, involving nice interpretations and consideration of the extent of the law. In all Mr. Patman gives his opinion on how to operate legally and advantageously under the act's provisions.

"Twenty-six chapters cover the purpose of the act, when price discriminations are lawful, price discrimination 'to meet competition,' who are in competition, cash discounts and terms of sale, advertising, other forms of promotional allowances, exemption as to perishables, obsolesence, selection of customers . . . "

Much more wordage is required to describe a book selling at $4.50 which is required to explain a law by which men and companies endeavoring to sell a pair of overalls or a package of prunes are required to do or refrain from doing certain things under various penalties, including imprisonment, possibly, at the discretion of the director of prisons, in Alcatraz.

TRIFLE EXTREME

I have seen Alcatraz from a safe distance in the last few weeks, and it does seem a trifle extreme to threaten men with immurement there for violation of an act one of whose parents, whether sire or dam, admits that it is capable of "nice interpretations" but would induce his customers to operate "advantageously" within its provisions as he perceives them.

No longer ago than last June Mr. Roosevelt passed some rather harsh remarks about citizens who operate within the provisions of the income tax law, but "advantageously." He took the position that it was immoral and unethical to operate "advantageously," and here now is Mr. Patman counseling the citizens, at $4.50 per copy, to take advantage of his law according to his interpretation. Yet he offers no guarantee that the advantages which he points out for $4.50 will be upheld by the courts and appears to be working both sides of the street, with no responsibility on either side.

Nobody can sue a statesman for framing a law which is so complex and obscure that an innocent man may be had up for criminal violation. Neither can anyone sue him as author for an unreliable interpretation if that version be repudiated by a majority of the nine old men.

DUAL CHARACTER

Mr. Patman's dual character here suggests an opportunity for the establishment of a profitable packet which would be legally operable from the halls of the sacred heritage on Capitol Hill. First pass a law so complex and so fraught with opportunities for "nice interpretation" that, admittedly, no citizen could be expected to know what it means, though his liberty depends upon compliance, and then write a book at $4.50 per copy explaining all, but on the basis of caveat emptor.

Naturally I have not read the Robinson-Patman act, but in view of Mr. Patman's venture into the ever more popular Washington field of commercial literature I am curious regarding one specific question. In that section of his law governing the book trade did Mr. Patman make it a criminal offense for anyone having bought a $4.50 book to lend that book to a friend, thus doing the deserving author out of his royalty of 67½ cents?

Roosevelt Told He's Hurting Legitimate Business By Sniping Big Boys; He's Bitter

WASHINGTON.—A friend who talked with the President recently, in an effort to persuade him to lay off sniping the big boys, told him the story of the farmer who found something was wrong with his chickens. They kept disappearing.

Finally he spied a big fat 'possum leave the chicken coop, and the next night he sat in wait with a shotgun. He heard the 'possum in the chicken coop and opened fire.

"He killed the 'possum, all right," the President was told "but he also killed a lot of the chickens."

The friend was trying to persuade Roosevelt that in the process of restricting and legislating against big business, he was also killing a lot of small, but important, innocent business.

FRIGHTENED INVESTORS

The President was also told that a lot of the big fellows had taken such precautions that they could live quite comfortably no matter what happened to the country.

Many of the higher bracket boys have gold deposits in Switzerland, Canada, Argentina or Bermuda. Their investments are in tax-exempt bonds and it is almost impossible to tax them. Some, like Barbara Hutton, escape taxes by living abroad.

A man with over a million dollars, the President was told, could live quite comfortably the rest of his life on his capital without earning a cent, and some of them are choosing to do so. They are deliberately closing their businesses. This is what dries up the capital markets, and in the process little business also is bound to be shot.

Whether Roosevelt was converted to the policy of easing up on big business is doubtful. But it can be stated definitely that he is extremely bitter toward the wealthier investors and businessmen who, as he believes, have deliberately laid down on their obligations to their fellow men.

TABLE TALK

While vacationing in Florida recently, Atty. Gen. Cummings and Harry Hopkins, slated to be secretary of public welfare, had dinner together at a swanky hotel and fell into a conversation with the head waiter.

"Do you have many New Dealers stopping with you?" asked Hopkins, looking around at the ornate furnishings.

"Do you want a pleasant answer," replied the head waiter, "or the truth?"

"The truth," said Hopkins.

"All the New Dealers we have down here," opined the head waiter, quite aware that he was talking to two of the highest New Dealers, "I could count on the finger of one finger."

"That so?" countered the amused Mr. Cummings. "Well, we'll have to get after some of these concentrations of wealth."

To which the head waiter shot back: "Why don't you get busy on the Roosevelts? They're certainly raking in the money?"

HELIUM TO GERMANY?

Secretary Ickes still is standing pat against the sale of helium to Germany, but he is not getting much support from his colleagues in the cabinet. In fact, some of them are definitely opposed to him.

One of these is Secretary of the Navy Swanson, whose admirals say that the Germans always permit them to have a naval observer aboard the Zeppelin, and that the German flights have been excellent experience for the U. S. navy.

Another colleague opposing Ickes is Cordell Hull, whose state department munitions expert, Joe Green, has been urging that the German sale be completed. Hull says the United States has a moral obligation to sell the helium.

Meanwhile Secretary Ickes has proposed various strict safeguards in Germany to make sure the helium is not used for war purposes. They are so strict that the German government is not likely to accept them. For Ickes has proposed that American inspectors be stationed in Germany to make sure that all the helium is used in the commercial Zeppelins, none diverted to other channels.

It was this form of inspection to which Germany objected under the Versailles treaty. Eventually she ousted the allied inspectors. Whether she will permit American inspectors on German soil remains to be seen.

JUST GOBS TOGETHER

William B. Shearer, self-styled "bass drum" (loud-talking lobbyist) for a big navy, was giving a cocktail party the other day, and among many present were Rear Admiral Harley Christy, retired, and Fred Storm, tall, blunt-spoken White House reporter for the United Press.

Storm, entering into the spirit of the occasion, was shouting various nautical orders.

"Gangway for the cocktails," he called, "pipe the waiter over the side."

Admiral Christy listened for a moment, then sidled over to the tall newspaperman and said:

"I didn't know you were a navy man, Mr. Storm."

"Sure I was," said Storm.

"What class?" asked the admiral, who himself graduated from Annapolis in 1891.

"Gunner's mate, second class," replied Storm.

There's nothin' as small as a man blamin' his short-comings on a woman, but it looks like if a man's weak enough he'll do it no matter how high a station he occupies.

I read the other day of a man who absconded with several million dollars and he said he did it to please a woman's vanity. In the same paper I read about a man bein' arrested for petty larceny. The judge says "This is the fourth time you have broken into that dress shop and stolen a dress."

The man says "No, judge, I broke in once and stole a dress and then my wife made me take it back and change it three times."

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody in office imagines to be public opinion, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for outspoken talking and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that every citizen may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion, The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words.

TAKE THAT, PEGLER!

To the Editor: Westbrook Pegler is peeved because columnists are accused of misrepresentation; he infers that monetary rewards are the only cause for misrepresenting. With this I disagree. A partisan thinking with his emotions instead of his brain, a congenial liar, a propagandist, a dealer in destructive criticism all derive a peculiar satisfaction in pandering to the basest passions in listeners without hope of monetary rewards.

I am convinced that the average columnist and commentator is anything but the lily white reporter that Pegler makes him out to be. If he were he would last as long as a police reporter sending in copy of a Sunday school picnic. Your columnist prospers because he has the ability to arrange words to irritate like a double-edged sword, some with agreement and others with disagreement, and by doing this they retain their large audience, because those that disagree love to vent their spleen upon the offending columnist's head; and your columnist, being a good psychologist, understands this and therefore reaps his reward.

Would Mr. Pegler inform me when he ever had anything good to say about anything or anyone except himself; has he ever uttered a constructive idea, and will Mr. Pegler inform me why your columnist engages in innuendo, half truths and other artifice? A politician is as clean as a hound's tooth compared to a columnist. We are fairly well acquainted with his motives for the stand he takes. We know his failings, and we also know that some of them take advantage of their positions. But what do we know about a columnist except that he syndicates his stuff for a reward (which Pegler turns his nose up when he refers to politicians), in some instances exceeding that of the President of the United States, for a daily mess of tripe which he must surely recognize as such. However, I take my hat off to your columnist, for he is smart and rightfully entitled to the crown once worn by the famous P. T. Barnum.

COST OF RELIEF

A group of municipal research directors have recently conducted a non-partisan study of the relief situation from the standpoint of American city finances.

Taking 11 representative cities in various parts of the country for their survey, the fact was revealed that in each of these cases the cost of welfare work amounted to at least two-thirds of the total tax collections. In some of them the welfare expenditures exceeded the total city revenue . . .

The gravity of the situation which these unbiased and sincere students of the subject present is one that calls for early action by municipal officials and in many cases by the officials of American counties where relief conditions are equally onerous.

The choice would seem to be between public bankruptcy on the one hand or radical modification of relief methods on the other. Neither remedy can be contemplated with equanimity. Eventually one or the other will face the people of many of our great cities and of many counties.—Santa Monica Outlook.

INGATE ELK

You can lead an elk to hay—and he will stay right there. He will lose his initiative and his rugged individualism. He will become too lazy to forage for himself.

That sad commentary of elk nature comes from Thomas J. Allen, jr., regional director of the National Park service, who now states that he and his men are unable to solve a problem created by their own kindness.

Last summer they grew some hay to give to the elk when the snow got so deep the animals couldn't root for themselves. Now that the hay is gone the elk refuse to leave the place where it was stacked. Moreover, they have become so fond of the easy life that they won't get out and get their own food, and they expect the government to continue them on the hay dole. Allen and his men consider this attitude on the part of the elk very inconsiderate and ungrateful.

P. S.—We'll just bet you are thinking about the same thing we are!—San Diego Sun.

PEACEFUL THINKING

We are even more pacific than Mr. Hull. We heartily support his efforts for economic disarmament through reciprocal trade treaties. But we believe that positive peace-making begins and must primarily depend on peaceful thinking. Recognizing the need to arouse the defenders of democracy to more positive action, we yet believe that there should be greater effort to understand and live in the world with peoples who, often with idealistic purposes, adopt different forms of government. — Christian Science Monitor.

DALE CARNEGIE'S Day-By-Day Philosophy

As a boy I lived on a farm in Missouri, where medical science hadn't as yet done much to conquer the dreaded scourge of smallpox.

Across the road, lived Sam Mozingo. One afternoon I went over to play with the Mozingo children. One of the girls was feverish. That evening she grew worse. Doctor Nash was sent for and when he came he uttered the word that filled us with terror—small-pox.

The girl died a horrible death, and was buried at night in the woods not far from our house. I could hear the clods falling as the men shoveled the earth on top of the coffin.

NOW TO THE POINT

Now I get to the point.

When the doctor quarantined the family, Sam Mozingo was told he was not, under any circumstances, to leave the farm.

Sam was a hard-headed man, and in the parlance of that section, he "flew mad." It was his farm and he would do as he pleased.

Oh, no, he wouldn't the medical authorities said grimly, and two guards armed with shotguns were stationed in front of the house, with orders to shoot Sam if he attempted to leave his farm.

Those armed men boarded at our house. You can imagine the excitement of the family atmosphere. One guard was always on duty, day or night.

Sam vowed he had to go to town to get some groceries, and nobody was going to stop him.

ONE OF OUR NEIGHBORS

At that moment one of our neighbors, seeing the climax, came over. After sizing up the situation he asked that he be allowed to talk with Sam. The guard was sent away.

"Sam," said the neighbor, "I realize you're upset and I don't rightly blame you. But there's two sides to this business. Both you and Doc Nash are after the same thing. You don't want small-pox to spread and kill people, and he don't either. You agree with that, don't you, Sam?" Sam shrugged his shoulders and allowed he did. "Well, now," continued the neighbor, "why don't you spend three or four hours thinkin' it over? Meantime, I'll hitch up the spring-wagon and go in and get your groceries for you."

FIRST CONCRETE EXAMPLE

When the neighbor returned, Sam was milking his cows. When the neighbor called to him, he came out and leaned over the barbed wire fence.

"Your talk sort of cooled me off. Guess maybe I was a little hasty," he said.

The neighbor set out the groceries and drove on. Sam picked up his sugar and coffee and went back into the house.

This was the first concrete example of handling people that I ever witnessed. It made a deep impression on me.

The older I grow the less I act in the heat of temper. Often I find that the other man wants exactly what I do, that we disagree only in method. When we discover this to be true, the rest usually becomes a simple matter.

IT'S ODD But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—They are boiling rocks at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Not in hot water. The rocks themselves melt and boil.

The rock-brew has been developed by Dr. R. D. Evans and Clark Goodman to obtain helium. The helium is not for airships or medicinal use. Ordinary rocks have too little helium for that—about a pint of gas to a ton of rock.

Tech is boiling rocks to find out how many millions or billions of years since the rock solidfied from a liquid. Perhaps the liquid came up from a volcano—perhaps it was the original molten stuff that made earth, provided the world was born from sun or star.

Helium tells the age of rocks because it forms in them at a uniform rate. Its formation is as even as the moving hand of a clock. This helium comes from the slight amounts of radio-active minerals scattered through most, or perhaps all rocks.

Lead is another product of this distintergration and it can be used to read the age of rocks. But for some purposes helium is simpler.

HALF AND HALF

Horace Greeley, who made the New York Tribune the greatest newspaper of its day, was an absolute teetotaler. One day he was attending a party with a friend, who wishing to have some fun at Greeley's expense, said: "Mr. Greeley, and I, gentlemen, are old friends; we have drunk a great deal of brandy and water together." "Yes," replied Greeley, "that is true enough. You drank the brandy and I drank the water."
